

Parents' Council Commends Local School Program

The educational system in the Orinda Union School District received a pat on the back Monday night from the Educational Advisory Council, composed of 12 parent representatives from throughout the district.

Harry R. Clemons, president of the EAC, presented to the district's board of trustees a nine-page report, which he said was the result of two years' work on the part of the council members.

FOUR REPRESENTATIVES of the school district staff, including Superintendent Joseph Sheaff, serve as advisors to the EAC, to bring the total membership of the group to 16.

The report, which Clemons said was prepared by the lay members of the council, said, "We have been very pleased with what we have heard and seen and we conclude that the district is doing an excellent job toward achieving its stated educational goals."

These goals, as stated in the report, are: To provide each child with a firm foundation in the basic subjects; to broaden the academic experience of each child by providing an enriched educational environment conducive to the stimulation of cultural appreciation; to provide a curriculum design sufficiently flexible to meet the changing needs of society; to provide the opportunity for every child to develop to the fullest extent of his mental and physical capabilities; and to imbue each child with the ideals of democracy and the inherent worth of the human individual.

SINCE ITS formation in February, 1959, the EAC has held 19 meetings in order to appraise

"the existing educational provisions and attainments in the elementary schools in Orinda in relation to the established goals . . . of the school district."

In its detailed review of and comment on each of the stated goals, the report points out that 75 per cent of the students' time is devoted to basic subjects, and the council members concurred in that emphasis.

Criticism of the school system was made on several points by the EAC, including the number of compositions and reports required, the social studies program, discipline and open houses.

THE REPORT also lists seven suggestions for future studies by the EAC, and the school board expanded on one of these — "Evaluating classroom and schoolyard discipline"—and asked the council to use this as the basis for its next study.

Expansion of the study means that it will include overall discipline, respect and character-building aspects of the school program.

At the same time, trustees asked the administrative staff to conduct a study of teacher utilization in the district. This is another one of the EAC's suggestions, but board members felt it should be conducted by the staff rather than by the council.

COUNCIL MEMBERS reported that "In our opinion the social studies program is in most need of improvement," but they attributed the cause of this need of improvement to "the state framework" and not to the local district.

According to the report, "It is our opinion that under the present state framework insufficient attention is given the basic subjects: History, geography and civics."

The EAC recommended that renewed emphasis be given to the teaching of history, government and democracy "as a way of life" and that history, geography and civics be taught as specific subjects.

THE THREE subjects now are taught as the single "social studies" because, according to Sheaff, the state textbooks in this field require such handling. The report continues, however, with the statement that "An exception to the foregoing criticism is the outstanding program in the study of the U.S. Constitution at the eighth grade level."

Members of the council felt that the quantity of compositions and reports required in fourth and fifth grade social studies classes seems to be premature in terms of the level of proficiency in the language arts skills.

They suggested that eighth grade teachers be given assistance. (Continued on page 2)

NEW PARALLEL parking on Brookwood Road between Camino Pablo and Moraga Way gives vehicular traffic in the area more room. The new parking setup was adopted several weeks ago after the State Division of Highways announced it would not build a new eastbound bus turnout for Orinda until after it was determined whether parallel parking would help relieve traffic congestion. The Public Utilities Commission recommended the new turnout because of bus delays due to the congestion. —Sun photo by Mattson.

Association Elects Five New Directors

Board Will Be Seated During Dec. 28 Meeting

The five newly-elected directors of the Orinda Association will be installed at the next regular meeting of the group's board at 8 p.m. December 28 in the Orinda Community Church, President Victor Kingston said today.

According to the outcome of the ballot-counting Monday night, the association's new board members are as follows:

David Edwards, 34 Bates Boulevard, succeeding Connie Hall; Arnold O. Anderson, 305 Overhill Road, succeeding Kingston; Paul J. Fanning, 160 Hall Drive, succeeding Phillip Mittell; Eric Nielsen, 224 Camino Sobrante, replacing Les Hink, Jr.; and James Keating, 5 Albo Court, succeeding David Saenger.

They defeated Michael Ball, George A. Talbot, Michael E. Dakis, Andrew Hartanov and Gary Nikolai, respectively for the posts. Holdover directors of the association are Bruce Howard, Mrs. Robert Haslam, Charles Dana and John Cheney.

Meanwhile, the civic affairs committee of the association will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Orinda School to elect a new chairman. The nominations for the office are still open.

Here's Why You'll Get Umpteen Calls!

The Sun carried 134 more want ads this week than the total of the two other area newspapers combined, announced Classified Manager Fred McKenzie.

Its readership is correspondingly higher.

The Sun's total was a whopping 682 want ads, compared to 418 in the Contra Costa Times and 130 in the Walnut Kernal.

The 682 total was reached by counting each ad placed by a customer only once, although each of those 682 ads actually appeared five times—once each in The Sun Shopping News and the Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun, Lafayette Sun and Pleasant Hill Sun.

McKenzie said, "Our ability to attract more ads than the other two papers combined is why the readership of The Sun classifieds is so great."

"In turn, that terrific readership attracts more and more want ad customers to The Sun," he added.

A 14-word ad can be placed by phone for only $1.60. Pay later. Deadline each week is Tuesday morning at 10.

School Board Approves Pilot Course Program

Members of the Orinda Union School District board of trustees on Monday night accepted a recommendation of the district staff to establish a new pilot program for the home economics and industrial arts courses.

Under the program modification, the Ivy Intermediate School next semester will offer home economics only to girls and industrial arts only to boys in the seventh grade.

NEXT JUNE, the administration will report back to the school board on the success of the Ivy program, and necessary changes will be made for the 1961-62 year throughout the district.

The home economics-industrial arts program was first established in the district in 1955, when the board chose to offer the courses on a co-educational basis to seventh and eighth grade students.

This program continued thru 1959, Superintendent Joseph Sheaff reported, but last year and this year, because of scheduling problems, the program has been offered only to seventh graders, with eighth graders allowed to continue on an elective basis.

New Rabies Shot Laws Is Goal of Supervisors

Changes in state laws dealing with inoculation of dogs in areas where rabies exists among wild life will be recommended next year by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, they indicated Tuesday.

They will request the following:

1. Increase minimum age from four to six months for dogs to be vaccinated and licensed.

2. ALLOW the counties to exempt dogs which would be endangered for health reasons, by veterinarian testimony.

3. The regional advisory committee which assist the State Health Department in determining rabies area should also have as members representatives of each county and one person representing all the cities in each county.

Mrs. Gladys Sargent, operator of Pets and Pals, Lafayette, also made the following suggestions, which will be considered by the board:

1. Rabies vaccinations should not be required as a condition for issuing a dog license.

2. DOGS confined to yards or continually under owner control be exempted from vaccinations.

3. The regional advisory committee should also have representatives of pet owners, dog breeders and humane societies.

At the meeting, Mrs. Sargent called the county enforcement

SHEAFF REPORTED Monday night, however, that on the basis of past experience, a non-coeducational program is more defensible, "except for a short introductory period which would be designed in such a way that both boys and girls would receive an introduction."

In other action, the board:

1—Postponed a decision on the appointment of an insurance committee to study the district's insurance coverage.

2—ADOPTED a new resolution changing the district's civil defense evacuation program. The new policy allows the students to "walk home" in case of an emergency evacuation instead of being driven by auto.

3—Authorized the expenditure of $100 for five district teachers to attend an Alameda State College mathematics seminar on new arithmetic teaching methods in elementary schools.

4—Appointed Mrs. Janet Santogrossi as health consultant replacing Mrs. Janet Jansse, who resigned.

5—Set January 9 as the date of the board's next meeting, because January 2 is a legal holiday.

as the "most rigid in the state."

OFFICERS GOING from door to door have forced owners to hide their pets and inform on their neighbors, she said.

The Veterinarians and Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association has supported the vaccination program, and now supports the supervisors' suggestions. But they indicate they oppose suggestions made by Mrs. Sargent.

Man of Year Committee Seeks Help of Public

With the year drawing rapidly to a close, the 1960 Orinda Man (or Woman?) of the Year Committee has announced it will hold another meeting next week to select the local resident who will win the award this year.

The committee is headed by Bruce Howard, vice president of the Orinda Association, and includes Mrs. Phil Pollaczek, last year's winner, and Mrs. Russell Gilwee, a member of the board of trustees of the Orinda Union School District.

Howard said the public is urged to submit suggestions in order to help the committee make its selection. These suggestions may be sent to Man of the Year Committee, P. O. Box 147, Orinda. Once again The Sun is sponsoring the Man of the Year award, and the committee has been asked to select the person deemed to have contributed the most to the welfare of the community during 1960; past years' activities will be taken into consideration also.

Your recommendations will be turned over to the committee. Although the award is sponsored by The Sun, selection of the person is entirely up to the committee.

Announcement of the person chosen as Man of the Year will be made in the December 30 issue of The Sun. Later this individual will receive a certificate from The Sun.

A HIT 'N RUN culprit demolished the garage doors early Sunday at the Robert Roth home, 23 La Cuesta Drive. The family was awakened at 3:30 a.m. by a bang, but saw nothing when they looked out the front door. They discovered the damage later when they were leaving for church. Pictured from left are Mike and Robin Roth and Steve Andersen, a neighbor. Police are investigating.

Sanitary District To Annex Land

Directors of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District were expected to annex the following properties last night after The Sun went to press:

The Indian Valley Swim Club, Inc., off Marshall Drive in Walnut Creek; the Scott and Ball tract, between Pleasant Hill Road and Taylor Boulevard in Pleasant Hill.

Also, two acres in Alamo, along the Danville Highway, belonging to Earl Walde; the Danville Grange 85 on Diablo Road, Danville; the Fuller and Eymann Development Company, 34 acres in Westwood; and Richard P. Amaro's property on Withers Avenue, Lafayette.

A requested two-week time extension from McGuire and Hester, contractors for the Lafayette trunk line, was taken under advisement at the directors' last meeting.

The developer of the Barnett Garden Apartments, a 90-unit building to be constructed at the intersection of Pleasant Hill Road and Geary Road, was instructed to install an eight-inch sewer line to accommodate the building.

Burglars Run Rampant in Area Homes, Businesses

Burglars struck the central county area with great force during the last week, with dress shops, bars, sporting goods stores and homes all falling prey to the crimes.

All of the burglaries still were under investigation by the sheriff's office today. No arrests have been made.

OFFICERS reported that early last Friday burglars smashed the front door of the Sport Chalet, 3303 North Main Street, Pleasant Hill, and 14 rifles were stolen from the racks in the shop.

Mrs. Florence Harrison of 3301 North Main Street, next door to the store, discovered the crime on her way to work. The store is owned by George Bamberger and Bernard (Skip) Walters.

Valuables worth a total of more than $3000 were stolen from the home of John J. Lindsey, 688 St. Mary's Road, Lafayette, last week, according to deputies. Entry to the home was gained by forcing open the rear door of the den, they said.

The stolen items included four fur stoles, a jewelry box, a camera and two pairs of binoculars.

IN ANOTHER home burglary, two rings and some money worth a total of $950 were taken from the residence of Mrs. Dorothea Dewey, 409 Beatrice Road, Pleasant Hill, Sunday night, officers reported.

Deputies said they could find no indication of a forced entry, but the back door and the garage door of the home were left unlocked.

The Fleta Jean Fashion Shop at 1643 Contra Costa Highway was burglarized over the weekend by thieves so thorough they even stripped the dummies in the window, according to sheriff's officers.

THE BURGLARS apparently jimmied open a door, deputies said, and proceeded to make a clean sweep of the establishment. Fleta Clune, a partner of the business, said about 100 dresses, including cocktail dresses and formal, were taken.

In addition, she told officers burglars took 17 fur pieces, sweaters, lingerie, costume jewelry and $10 in cash. The loss was estimated at exceeding $5000.

Clothing in the back of the store, kept on a layaway plan for Christmas, was also stolen.

SEVENTEEN quart bottles of liquor and about $75 in cash was stolen from Rick's bar and restaurant at 2224 Contra Costa Highway during the early morning hours on Sunday.

A report of the theft was made to the sheriff's office Sunday by Arthur R. Bliesner of 145 Lakewood Road, Walnut Creek, owner of the establishment.

Sheriff's deputies found that entry was through a window of the women's restroom. The $75 in coins was taken from the cash register. Stolen from behind the bar, according to the report, were two bottles of gin, 11 of whiskey, one of carbonated water, one of martini and two of rum.

ORIGINALLY Bliesner reported approximately $500 in currency had been stolen from a cigar box in a cabinet drawer; however, he amended the report later, stating the money had not been stolen, but had been moved by a bartender.

Sheriff's officers are also investigating the theft of building materials worth about $400 from homes under construction in Stone Valley Estates on Miranda Avenue in Alamo during the last two weeks.

Kenneth Lane, 32, of Hayward, project manager for the contractors, Heers Brothers, Inc., told investigators that the materials consisted mainly of cabinets.

Moraga Firemen Will Host Santa

Members of the Moraga Volunteer Fire Department will hold their annual Santa Claus ride for youngsters in the Moraga area Sunday morning, a dispatch from the North Pole reported today.

Moraga area children are urged to watch for Santa to arrive in a fire chief's jeep sometime about 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Trustees Will Discuss New Offices on Monday

By LARRY GLAZIER

Trustees of the Orinda Union School District postponed action Monday night on whether or not to approve construction of a district administration building.

The board members voted to adjourn the meeting until 7:30 p.m. Monday for the purpose of reaching a decision on the administration building, which is expected to cost about $117,000. This is the second consecutive adjournment of the board's regular meeting.

Action to delay the decision came after a heated discussion on the subject which lasted for more than an hour.

DURING the discussion, Joseph Sheaff, district superintendent, told the board any postponement of construction on the building would be "a tragic mistake."

Earlier this year the board tentatively approved construction of the building, which would be located in front of Pine Grove School. Preliminary drawings of the structure have been authorized.

But, Sheaff reported, the state will not approve the construction because the district does not have enough priority points. A recent change in the state law made the requirements even more difficult by increasing the amount to which the district has to be bonded.

SHEAFF and James Jentges, district assistant superintendent for business, presented a report to the board pointing out that it would cost the district more money to build the building under state aid than it would if the district left the state program.

The report, presented Monday night at the trustees' request, noted that the administration building would add 3 1/2 cents to the tax rate next year.

In his report, Sheaff said, "It is my recommendation that even though the bond tax will increase slightly each year if we use additional bonds for construction, we should go ahead with plans for the district administration building, and immediately consider building at least four additional classrooms at Inland Valley to be ready by September 1962."

HE ALSO told the board that according to present estimates of the enrollment in the district in September 1961, the district will have three empty classrooms at Pine Grove School.

Trustee Herbert Waterman asked, "How can we justify the construction of the administration building if we have three classrooms vacant?"

Sheaff said he was unable to accurately predict what would happen next September, but "to have any available classrooms at all under this kind of system is a God-send."

He explained that the district's administrative staff is scattered throughout the district and that this is not an efficient operation. "We have a $1.5 million business and it should be operated efficiently," the superintendent stated.

SHEAFF NOTED that the opening of the Santa Maria School slowed down the enrollment growth of the district this year, but if there is an anticipated increase in the number of students in September, the three empty classrooms will not exist.

The trustees explained that they are not adverse to building the administration unit if it is necessary, but they could not see how they could justify the construction to the taxpayers as long as there existed empty classrooms.

Waterman said, "We are only trying to exercise reasonable financial control over the district."

Here we have an opportunity to postpone the day of reckoning and save three cents on the tax rate."

THE SUPERINTENDENT answered, "We, in this district have made many mistakes, but it would be the greatest mistake the school board ever made if this building is postponed. If we should have growth and there are no classrooms, double sessions will be necessary."

"I am at a complete loss to look ahead and tell this board whether the classrooms will be filled or not. The taxpayers want to know why we wait until we're on double sessions before building, and here we have a chance to get ahead."

The trustees concluded that if they make a decision to construct the building Monday night, there still will be time to have the unit completed by the fall semester.

Everyone Has It-- The Tickle

Just about everyone seems to have it — a sort of mild cold, with mostly symptoms of hoarseness and a tickle, maybe a burning sensation in the throat.

But it's not the flu.

Dr. Eric Dienand of the County Health Department said that the virus has hit almost everyone during recent weeks, but most folks have been able to keep going.

As a result, job and school absenteeism is not above normal for this time of the year.

Dr. Dienand said, "There is rarely any fever involved, such as we had in past years with the so-called Asian flu, but there is a sticky phlegm."

"Actually, it's just a mild cold, but is confirmed mostly to the throat, and rarely even develops into such symptoms as runny nose."

The doctor, who has had these symptoms himself for about two weeks, said the best thing is to stop smoking temporarily, take vitamins, try to stay out of foul air, and if necessary seek a relieving prescription which will remove the distracting tickle in the throat.

Publicity Plans For Acalanes Bond Issue Formulated

Plans for publicizing the Acalanes High School District school bond election to be held February 14 were formulated this week when the members of the publicity committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Hardin Jones, met to develop printed materials.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Ogden Kiesel, 20 Crest Road, Lafayette, co-chairman of the High School Bond Election Committee with Don Doyle, the publicity committee, composed of Mrs. Walter F. Funk, Mrs. Richard Leland and J. Ross Reagan, considered designs and format of the publicity material.

The general citizens' committee, organized by community leaders sponsoring the high school district's forthcoming request for bond funds to continue its school building program, will meet January 4 in the Acalanes High School library to make work assignments.

Seeking to continue its program to provide classrooms and facilities for one of the most rapidly growing school districts in Contra Costa County, the high school district is going to the voters for authority to issue $3.9 million in construction bonds for buildings and equipment and for a $750,000 state loan for building sites.

In the Classroom... Del Rey Children Touched By True Christmas Spirit

Teachers and other adults at Del Rey School are misty-eyed over the manifestation of true Christmas spirit by the children there. The upper grade classes proposed to their teachers that, in lieu of the customary exchange of gifts within the class, each child bring a gift to be sent to a less fortunate child. Distribution will be arranged through a social service agency.

The children in Miss Haworth's second grade class undertook an unusual project for the Christmas season. They constructed a candy cane Christmas tree which they donated to the Children's Hospital Christmas tree festival at the Claremont Hotel.

The tree, priced at $20, was sold during the preview. One hundred and thirty-two candy canes arranged in tiers, silver balls and over 500 tiny, hand-tied ribbons went into the tree.

Children participating were Adrienne Anger, Billy Baird, Mary Bell, Gary Bergren, David Bernard, Raymond Bini, Dana Blanc, Leslie Blumer, Robert Buis, Renee Gazo, Lanny Gordon, Stephen Harlan, Randy Jones, Mark Keating, John Lorenzo, Brian MacDonald, Cindy Merrill, Leslee Peterson, Don Purdy, Bob Sanford and Laurie Sharpe.

Mrs. O'Dea's and Mr. Enjaian's sixth grade classes are starting their Christmas holiday with a caroling party tonight. The classes will meet at the school, then wend their way through the neighboring areas singing carols. They will return to school for refreshments before scattering for the holiday recess.

Miss Haworth's second graders are in the midst of another activity which reaffirms the Christmas spirit. They are decorating a three-foot white tree with brightly wrapped gifts, candy canes and red bows. When finished, it will go as a friendship tree to the children at Juvenile Hall.

Glorietta: Museum

The fifth graders of Miss Meek's class at Glorietta School recently went on a field trip to San Francisco.

First the class went to the De Young Museum where they saw paintings, tapestries, chests of wood, carvings and rooms of the English, French and Spanish from the Middle Ages and Renaissance periods.

Next the class went to the aquarium where they saw many different kinds of fish. Inside the building, there were also many stuffed animals.

After the class went to the aquarium and the De Young Museum, they ate lunch in the park.

Then they went to Fisherman's Wharf and went on a ship called the Baklutha. In this ship were many interesting things. They saw where the captain's quarters were and where his crewmen slept. On the ship was a museum with pictures of the boat.

Children in the chorus and orchestra at Glorietta School entertained the Parents' Club Monday evening in the all-purpose room of the school with their annual Christmas musical program.

Soloists were Jan Allen, Nancy Buehler and Karla Rigor, all fifth graders.

The program included a combined number, "Deck the Halls", a Welsh carol by the orchestra and chorus. The orchestra is under the direction of Charles Pendleton, district instrumental teacher, and the chorus is directed by Miss Margie Di Leonardo, district vocal teacher.

At the conclusion of the program, the audience joined in singing Christmas carols.

Trustees Receive Report From Parents Committee

ance, if necessary, in correcting the papers rather than reducing the number of reports required at that grade level.
THE EAC recommended further that the administration discourage elaborate time-consuming preparations for open houses. Its members said "We believe that public school week is important and serves a very useful purpose."

But, the report continues, "in some cases, the teacher and pupils have done too much to make an impressive showing."

Sheaff took exception to this criticism, stating "I would hate to de-emphasize public school week because I feel this is one of the best things the district does."

HE SAID LATER that the displays do not require a lot of time, and that on most occasions the room is undecorated when school starts in the morning and is decorated by the evening open house.

The seven items listed for possible future assignments of the EAC are:

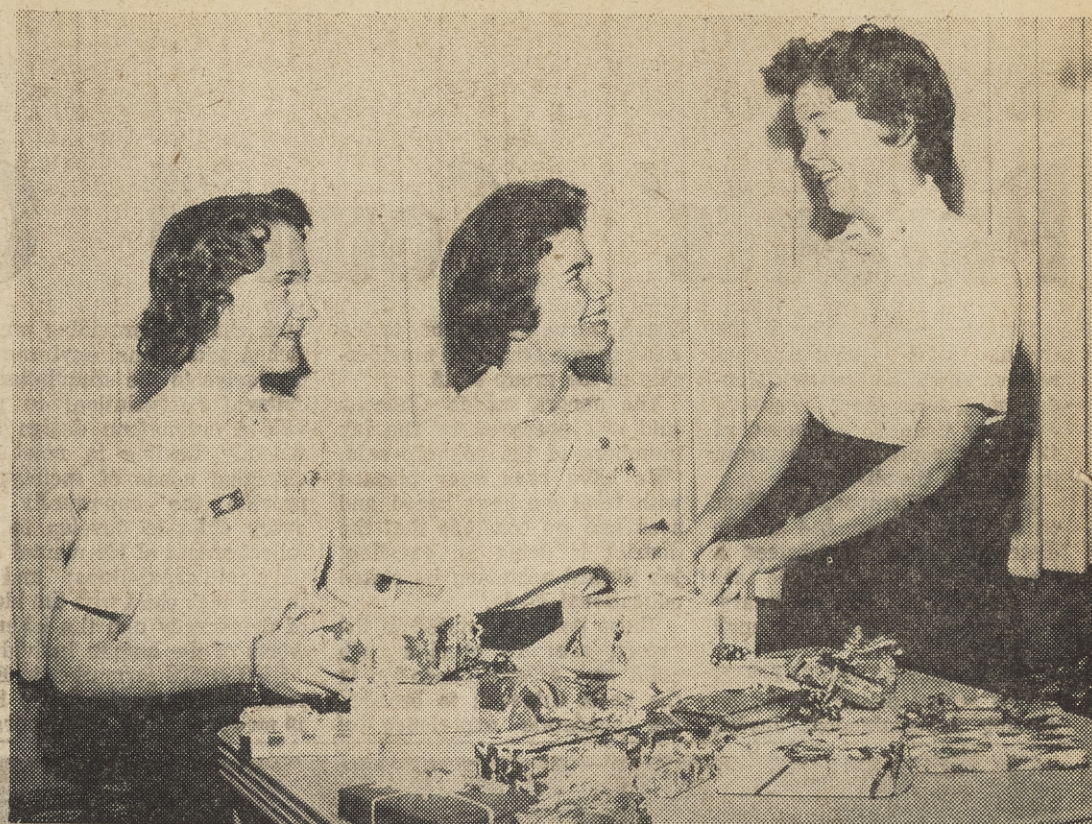

Continuing the study of methods of evaluating student accomplishments; evaluating community desires regarding non-basic subjects and special programs; evaluating classroom and schoolyard discipline; continuing the study of cluster grouping and its effects; evaluating student council and leadership groups; studying ways and means of attracting, developing and holding superior teachers in the district; and studying ways and means of achieving additional utilization of school facilities.

Members of the EAC are Clemons and Mrs. Milton H. Brinton of the Sleepy Hollow School; Mrs. Thomas Deahl, who serves as secretary, and Paul Williams of Glorietta School; Mrs. Clement Ford and Forest Peterson of Orinda School; Mrs. William Cook and Sidney H. Smyth of Del Rey School; Mrs. J. K. Dobey and Edward F. Winthers of Inland Valley School; and Mrs. Frank Shirey and Allen Thor of Pine Grove School.

The staff advisors are Sheaff; Mrs. Ruth Gilwee of the board of trustees; William Gaskell, principal of Inland Valley School; and Mrs. Alice Frederick of the Orinda Teachers' Organization.

Christmas is a good excuse for the family to splurge on that extra something which the budget fails to make room for at other times of the year. If you would make this Christmas something special, give yourself the means to having running water in the garden.

CCCSD To Appeal $3750 Verdict in Condemnation

Counsel for the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District, John Bohn, said the district would appeal an award of $3750 made to a Lafayette woman last week in a condemnation trial.

The suit involved 425 square feet of Mrs. Margaret Thomson's property at 3463 Golden Gate Way, Lafayette, but the actual easement required by the district for a new sewer trunk line being installed through downtown Lafayette was only 30 square feet.

The jury of four men and eight women made the award on the basis of $1600 for the easement and $2150 for severance. Bohn said CCCSD had originally called in an appraiser, Bob Foley, who fixed the value at $250, which they offered to Mrs. Thomson.

ROBERT ESHLEMAN, attorney acting for Mrs. Thomson, proposed a payment of $750 and later indicated $500 might be acceptable. Bohn recommended at the September 1 meeting of district directors that the counter offer of $250 be made.

When it was rejected, CCCSD obtained a court order for immediate possession and installed the line.

Bohn said there is a 10-foot setback on the property and that nothing could be built on it, but in an effort to be fair the district was willing to pay $250.

HE ADDED that a reported offer of $50 made by the district as the trial began was untrue.

Bohn said CCCSD would file for a new trial before the trial judge, Superior Judge Hugh H. Donovan.

He said the district will argue that certain errors were committed and the verdict was unreasonably high. An award of up to $1000 might have been reasonable, he said.

"These are public funds and we have a public responsibility," he declared.

Nejedly Defends His Policy on Drinking Driver

District Attorney John Nejedly last week defended his policies on prosecution of drinking drivers, and at the same time he called the proposed mandatory six-month suspension of all licenses on conviction "unfair."

Speaking to the Richmond Exchange Club, he said, "I should wish to make it clear that we cannot expect that in law enforcement alone lies the real solution to the social impact of the drinking driver . . ."

"The real solution lies in the conscience of each member of society . . . to voluntarily control his own conduct."

Nejedly also took issue with a Richmond attorney, David Pierce, who said the district attorney should enforce laws in keeping with the community standards.

60 Citizens' Committees Face Study

Contra Costa County's first housecleaning of more than 60 citizens' committees appointed in the past 10 years by the County Supervisors has been promised by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

Some of these citizens' committees haven't met in years. Some are no longer needed because the problem on which their advice was sought was solved without their help.

Others couldn't act because passage of time has removed more than half their members.

During the next few weeks McBrien will present to the supervisors segments of the list of three-score committees they and their predecessors have appointed since 1950, he said.

They were asked to advise on a variety of governmental problems ranging from airports through garbage, harbors, recreation, water, youth, parks, mental health and geriatrics.

An estimate of the committees' activities and recommendations will accompany each list. The dormant or inactive ones will be abolished and active and necessary ones will be brought up to strength by new appointments, McBrien said.

McBrien will recommend that committees surviving the housecleaning be required to report regularly to the board on the members present and business conducted at each of their meetings.

He will also recommend that all committees be given a terminal date for presentation of their final recommendations to the supervisors.

Acalanes Concert Ass'n Is Invited

Members of the Acalanes Community Concert Association have been invited to be guests of the West Contra Costa Civic Music Association.

Their concerts are held at the Richmond Memorial Auditorium at 26th and Nevin Streets, Richmond, and start at 8:15 p.m.

Their season opened Tuesday with the presentation of Mary Costa, soprano.

Other concerts on the series are the Robert Shaw Corale on February 8, George London, baritone on February 27, and the San Francisco Ballet with Orchestra on April 6.

Acalanes Dist. Awards New $113,000 Contract

Pending legal approval of the contract, the Acalanes High School District trustees this week awarded the construction of an industrial arts building at Miramonte High School to the firm of Kirkham, Chaon and Kirkham of Walnut Creek.

Two new classrooms, one to house a woodworking class and the other a combination metal-working and auto shop, will cost $113,309.

The bid, lowest of 10 submitted, calls for occupancy at the start of the school year, 1961.

AWARD of this contract completes the building program for the current year and commits the remainder of the funds raised under the 1955 bond issue.

Superintendent Neil M. Parsons read a letter from the Lafayette Elementary School District requesting an expression of need for a flashing traffic signal at the intersection of Springhill and Pleasant Hill Roads, and a willingness to participate in the cost of installing such a light.

Trustees directed Parsons to determine the need of a signal by high school students and to make a report on which action may be based.

Dr. Max M. Appleby, assistant superintendent for education, reported on the success of the career exploration course offered at Miramonte during the past two summer vacations.

UNDER this plan selected upperclassmen are provided unpaid work experience in fields of their vocational choice.

Working three hours a day, 38 students gained an insight into the actual working conditions in occupations ranging from technical assistant at the U. C. Radiation Laboratory to aiding an interior decorator during the past summer.

Later in the year board members will consider the possible expansion of this program to other schools of the district.

In other action, the board approved a simplified schedule of charges for lost and damaged textbooks presented by Miss Lily Lahti, coordinator of curriculum, extended an agreement with the Orinda Swim Club for the use of the Miramonte pool to June, 1961.

Heavy Migration to Our Suburbs

Area census figures for Central Contra Costa County indicate that since 1950 there has been a heavy migration of people to the smaller cities and unincorporated areas here, as elsewhere.

The nose counting has been done by the Census Research Division of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

There are well over 150,000 in the central county, including Concord, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette, Orinda-Moraga and Alamo-Danville areas.

A SIMILAR trend to the suburbs

16,696 in Orinda-Moraga, 12,692 in Alamo-Danville.

Biggest county-wide figure, 100,872, continues to be Richmond's.

OTHER big areas outside the central county are El Cerrito, 25,437; Martinez, 20,967; Pittsburg, 21,190; San Pablo, 19,693; Antioch, 19,175.

The Census Research Division report also shows that there has been a population shift away from northern Alameda County, including Oakland, which is the largest large metropolitan center near central Contra Costa.

The north Alameda County lost some 25,000 population since 1950, and southern Alameda County has picked up nearly 300,000.

Only Piedmont in the north Alameda County gained in population.

Big gainers were Hayward with 72,000 people, an increase of 400 per cent; Livermore with 16,000 people and a gain of 270 per cent.

Martinez Roundup Board Abolishes Defunct Citizen's Committees

Operation "housecleaning" was begun Wednesday by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors when they began eliminating citizen's committees which have outlived their usefulness, failed to act or are now inactive.

Six were dissolved Wednesday from a total of 60 existing citizen's committees. The six were appointed between October 19, 1954 and March 5, 1957.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien said the remaining committees appointed between 1950 and 1960 will be reviewed in the next few weeks, revitalized and given terminal dates for their deliberations or abolished by the supervisors.

WEDNESDAY the board abolished a committee appointed in 1955 to study the need for a second municipal court. The committee reported twice that year, but the supervisors took no action and the county now has three municipal courts.

The courts were established automatically by state law over the supervisors' objections when the Concord and San Pablo areas reached 40,000 population.

Other committees eliminated were one on Juvenile Hall, one to study electrical inspection exemptions for industrial buildings, one to study health center sites, one to study sales taxes and one on outdoor advertising sign regulations.

Basketball Fever Hits All Matador Faithful

BY ANN LINCOLN AND TOM FERGUSON

Basketball fever has struck at Miramonte! Last weekend the annual Miramonte basketball tournament was held in the Matadors' gym. The place was packed Friday night with standing room only. The bleachers were filled and chairs were occupied on the stage and in every corner of the gym.

The senior class sold 360 basketball programs that first night. Friday was a happy day for the Matadors as they downed Piedmont and Alhambra. Randy Thaman broke his collar bone for the second time this year and was, of course, unable to play. Randy is a first-string guard. Big Dick Stark, the man with the three stripes on his sweater, took Randy's place and did a terrific job. Every player on the team was able to get in the games Friday night. By the way, Dick, how's your little knee?

Saturday night the picture was not so bright. The Matadors beat the San Ramon Wolves in a "sudden death overtime" with big Doug Hudson emerging the hero. Doug is cute, too. Acalanes defeated the Matadors in a real close and hard-fought game.

Jack Gilbert, Miramonte's 6-foot-6-inch center, made the tournament All-Star team this year. On the whole, the Matadors look very good. They look forward to a terrific season.

Pete Read is mad at Lumpy Layne. Rumor has it that Lumpy got Pete set up with a "real terrific" blind date from Alameda. Pete says that she should have been in there playing basketball with the team. You can't win 'em all, can you, Peter?

Andy DeGrassi seems to be going out for the Sharon Croci team this season. After the tournament, Andy and Sherry went to her house. It seems that they brewed up a big pot of stew together. Andy says that it was the best broth he's had in a long time.

There surely are a lot of cats in physiology this year. (That's supposed to be funny.) The daring and somewhat reluctant students of physiology were given cats to work on Monday. The boys took to skinning the pudgy tats pretty well, but some of the girls didn't go the route. Most of the kids are getting used to it by now, though. Miss Snyder, our "scientifically-minded" teacher, says that it is the gayest thing we do all year in her estimation.

Some of the comments heard around the class were "Who's got the pepper?" "Please pass the mustard," "Let's get yours and mine together," "This is funnies," and "I thought you were supposed to bring some lettuce today." All-in-all, things are putty dead this week in "fizz." (That's funny, too.)

An after-the-tournament party was held at Dwight Thompson's house Friday night. A big blazing yuletide fire created a cheery atmosphere and delicious angel food cake and hot chocolate were enjoyed by all. Some of those having a wonderful time were Dwight and Sherry Odenthal, Roger McCosker and Jackie Villata, Linnet Trefts and Steve Miller, Nancy Englehard and Mike McQuaid, Karen Rigor and Brad Harlan and Sue Brown and Rick Merriam.

Rumors that a dance was going to be at St. Stephen's Church after the tournament Saturday had many teenagers from Miramonte and Las Lomas quite confused. About ten thousand cars showed up for an imaginary dance.

Saturday night Brian Traynor had a party after the games.

Babes In Toyland!

TWAS THE WEEK before Christmas & all thru the town, the favorite verbal exchange between hubby & wife shopping was "Hey, Honey... Have you got any money?"

OPEN BEFORE CHRISTMAS... Orinda Motors' Jim Hendrickson decided to surprise the whole family w/a chord organ, proudly made his purchase & broke the Big Secret to Marian. Marian told the kids, the kids, couldn't WAIT & the next carol you hear emanating from the Hendrickson home will be Jim in a solo of Silent Night.

The shoppers thronging the stores & if the local spots stayed open all nite, they'd never lack for customers... Sunday shoppers incl. Marian Bignami in a poile hat with poile dress & white coat looking very ornamental herself & buying a mammoth-size game of BINGO... Ned de Laveaga & his young dgtr in her best Sunday breton & coat browsing the drug store... Sue Goldsmith & her tall blonde daughter casing the cards, Convalescent, & picking out a cheery one for Allen who is recouping an ailment down South.

BIG BILL Marshall & his blonde Kay carting a crew of uniformed Girl Scouts to the annual Festival of Trees at the Claremont Sunday... The Bowles Bros. bent on their business of dates, not the girlish variety but the California desert-grown treat that is their annual Big Biz at Christmastime. We send them East every year & if you're still shy a gift, you can't miss. Or STUFF 'em! Call CL 4-5805

Come All Ye Faithful!

MORE IN THE STORE... Dorothy Grassi sporting a Christ-mas corsage... Jackie Robinson buying miles of wide yellow satin ribbon to go w/the yellow satin fruit balls studding the swags of green winding up a staircase. Sounds gorgeously different & she can always leave it up till Easter!

THE BEST CHRISTMAS package, all tied up w/TEENS, senior-size, is the Christmas Supper Formal at the Orinda Country Club Fri. Dec. 23 w/the special tag of $4.00 per couple to which all Sophs thru College girls are invited. (Boys wear dark suits, girls party frocks) So come all ye youthful, call Rick Merriam's mom June at CL 4-3527 for res. that close Dec. 19-20. Buffet dinner & dancing to Gordon Hecht's Ork.

Stan & Leona Hunn picking out there Christmas cards... Millie Cutting getting gift-wrapped at Phair's... The Cuttings to spend holidays at Wigwam resort in Arizona w/the Mike Millers, the Doug Manuels.

THE VILLAGE PHARM. is the Hot Stove League of modern-day Suburbia judging from the cracker-barrel crowd congregating there for hot coffee on recent chilly morns.

Across the street, the ice-slicked country club greens looking frosted enough for good sledding... The George Dodge's dgtr. Marcia sporting mittens, her mother Kay looking like one of Santa's helpers, all in red from coat to shoes... Tanita Van Duyn in a raincoat splashed w/a print of giant postage stamps.

Dr. Bob & Nan McEligot have sent a change of address to Santa... They to spend a first Christmas in their new home on Miner Rd., the former Burrows rez on the site of the beloved old Santa Maria church.

Gina & Dan Lucas' new grandson Gregory Scott was baptized recently at Santa Maria Church by Rev. Father David Harrington. We watched Gina rock this beautiful boy at Eva Parker's Candlelight Tea last Fri. & no wonder they're piling up Toys & more Toys for him under the Tree. What an angel!

Don't you dare mention your recent Leg Of Lamb dinner to Pine Grove librarian Inez Lillie. She took the prime piece of meat from the freezer to defrost it & the next she saw of it, her boxer Figaro, Figaro, FIGARO-O-OH! had gnawed it to the very bone!

Christmas card from Jean & Earl Vicars in DC... They read The Sun every week & are still homesick but keep real busy back there. Jean worked for Mr. Nixon 3 mos. & loved it. NEIGHBORS from next door were the Lowell Creagmiles. When asked Where & HOW they came by the Easter head statues that now flank their driveway & formerly fronted the old Planters' Dock entrance, Malfred told of their leaving their dinner guests in the middle of a party to rush out to bid for them at an auction.

Jeri's youthful uncle, Fred Wilson replenishing libations...

Helen & Johnny Whitehouse over from Laf... She is a sister of June Merrell of Orinda... A stroll around the long deck w/Maxine Laney for a night look at the beautiful buttermilk sky, a dramatic silhouetting of the deep purple skies & even the freeway far below looked good.

SO DID JIM SEAMAN, by the way, spruced up in seasonal splendor in a red vest w/a pocket watch embroidered at 8 p.m. at the pocket... His bow tie too, red w/two hand-stitched Santas! Many Happy Years in your new home, Clements!

Tomorrow night, Peggy & Bob Wagner, young-marrieds on Don Gabriel Way, are entertaining for their neighbors in festive fashion... Dentist Gene Garbarino & his Joan gave a sit-down dinner for good friends Bob & Madeline Partridge, Bill & Marian Fiset & Stella & Bob Epperson last Friday.

Beauty Is a Personal Thing, In Town and at Home, Too...

Have you taken a good look at your hometown lately? And by hometown, we mean this community, because surely you've adopted it by now.

If you have, and if you've really opened your eyes, you might be surprised at the things that are happening. Plants are springing up where there used to be only concrete. In some cases, only plans have sprung up, but beauty is on its way.

TAKE ONE BIG item, for instance. The State of California is going to spend a fantastic sum to beautify and landscape the new Walnut Creek Interchange. This will not only benefit the area where the highway is actually located, but it will be pleasant for commuters, too. A lot better than looking at bare concrete mile after mile.

Orinda has had a beautification plan for sometime, and the results can be seen if you open your eyes when strolling through downtown Orinda streets.

Lafayette, too, has gone a long way with its Design Project. The park is finished, and the work on the center strip on Mt. Diablo Boulevard is progressing.

Walnut Creek has plans for planter-type shrubs and trees.

This type of thinking is becoming more and more prevalent in our communities, and it is a fine thing to see it bear fruit.

BUT IT GOES farther than the matter of civic planning. Civic pride is an individual thing. No amount of legislation can make a person proud of his town. Legislation cannot make you keep your front yard neat, so that the neighborhood looks better.

Beauty and pride of community are a personal matter, just like they are at home.

It is not really a job for the chamber of commerce, or the city council, although these organizations can go a long way toward beautifying their own communities.

It is a job for each individual store owner and manager — for each homeowner.

In short, it is our job, as residents, to see that our community is a pleasant place in which to live, and not a blot on the landscape.

A little paint on some of our store fronts would be a big help. Sometimes a new awning, or a planter box in front of the store would do wonders.

AND HOW ABOUT your home? Do you have a lovely weed patch that cultivates itself each year, and which is probably more annoying to the neighbors than it is to you?

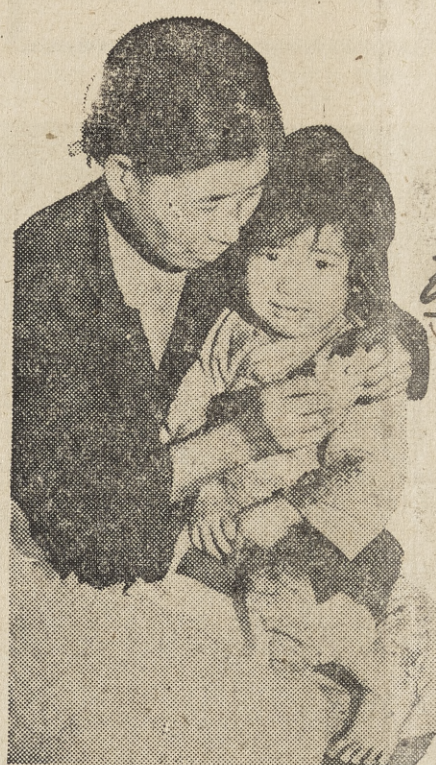

Is your service area (your garbage can and clothesline) screened in, or is it an eyesore to your neighbor?

Beauty is a personal matter — your matter. And you can do a lot towards making this community the place that you would like it to be.

of The Churches

Overseas, literally millions of men, women and children are in desperate want for clothing — refugees, victims of war or of natural or economic disasters. For most of them, clothing sent by the churches is their only source of supply. More than 10 million pounds of food, clothing, medicine and other necessities are needed this year to relieve suffering among these pitifully impoverished people. Even this will only begin to meet the emergency. Won't you reach into your closet and let your idle clothing help in giving warmth and hope and courage to the near-naked and despairing?

Letters to The Editor

MOVIES

Dear Editor:

Your editorial last week, sparked by the Miramonte Parents' Club, has opened the door for us, so let's all crowd in!

The quality of films shown in the area has been of much concern to parents in this neighborhood. Granted, many of us enjoy good "meaty" fare, but we cannot see the logic in combining (on the same bill), a wholesome family story with a disturbing emotional film.

The reasoning behind this, apparently, is that the movie houses must accept "package deals" from Hollywood. Then maybe the solution would be a boycotting of theaters throughout the country, in order to "re-educate" Hollywood. The present programming means the whole family stays home.

Further, when a delightful family show is scheduled and we stack the supper dishes on Friday night to rush for a good seat, must the children (and adults) squirm in their seats while next week's most lurid scenes are previewed?

Many of us have moved east of the hills for the sake of our youngsters. Why not set a unique example to other suburban areas by crusading a plan of reserving Friday night for the family? Families in the East Bay would probably drive out through the tunnel to share the Friday entertainment.

We feel adult drama should be labeled as such, so that we don't find it necessary to screen the pictures in advance for the sake of letting our children attend.

Hats off to The Sun for its new movie rating schedule. We certainly hope you will continue this service!

SHORT LETTER

Dear Editor:

My curiosity is aroused as to why you did not print all of my letter of November 13. This was the letter that was written in response to your editorial, "that no one was really trying to do anything about reducing taxes."

You printed only about half of my letter in your issue of November 25. Much data on tax reducing moves, especially the repeal of the personal income tax through proposed congressional amendment 23 was given in my letter which you omitted. Why?

The letter could not have been too long as you have printed others much longer.

CLIFFORD C. REA

(Ed. Note: True, longer letters have been printed, but sometimes they have had to wait for a considerable length of time until there was room. Shorter letters can usually be used almost immediately, and they receive better readership.)

HIGH TAXES

Dear Editor:

Your recent editorial entitled "Why Our Taxes Are High?—Who's Really at Fault?" was greatly appreciated by me.

I think you should be commended for a real public service and complimented upon your method of presentation.

I trust and hope that it will be highly valued by those who read it.

May I suggest that reprints be sent to other local newspapers and also to national magazines.

DUNCAN B. CAMPBELL

Under The Sun You Readers Write This Column for a Change!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Many of you readers wrote interesting comments when you answered the Sun's Five Minute Questionnaire, printed on the front page several months ago. This column has already reported some of the suggestions and criticism, but today let's look at some of the other notes written on the forms.

You might remember that the questionnaire did not ask for the sender's name. Some of you did sign, but I won't use names because the comments were not submitted as letters-to-the-editor. Here's an interesting suggestion:

"Suggest at some time you discuss the pros and cons of 'simple' uniforms (navy blue skirts and blouses for girls; choice of cardigans) for public school students. Many fine communities have found that this is a good solution to this problem. What do the parents in this area think?"

Go ahead—write it

The Sun welcomes comments from you on this or the other items discussed today. In fact, this leads into another subscriber's thought:

"Why not ask for volunteer contributions from readers, such as humorous anecdotes, la trivia of local scenes and comments . . . It may be Mad and a scramble but interesting to hear and read."

Good idea—The Sun will welcome your participation. Next?

"I believe that more of a challenging type of editorial should be written on two most important topics; namely, world peace and how to eventually attain it; and the lessening of racial tension by following the tenants of Christian-Judeo ethics.

"More and more we hear the slighting remark about the color and race of a person. We who engage in jokes at service clubs and at work are as guilty as Orville Faubus, only we do it in a sneaky way. Anyhow these two topics are worth editorializing about more often."

Re the high cost of living

Another reader wrote ". . . would like to see more (stories) on the high cost of drugs, dentists, doctors, etc. Taxes, already high, keep increasing. The stories on too many service stations are so, so true for reasons given."

And here's a plea from another: "Won't you please write an editorial about the poor drivers here? Never have I seen such violations of traffic regulations! Some drivers are lacking in the common courtesies."

More election news?

"I don't feel the election of the Sanitary District directors (last September) was well enough publicized long enough in advance," writes another subscriber. "They have been doing some things that I, for one, disapprove. Their fees and taxes are outrageous."

My comment: months and months before the election, The Sun printed stories announcing that three directors would be elected in September, giving the deadline for filing. Before the election, The Sun ran stories and editorials. We could, however, do a better job in covering the district.

Another reader asks, "How about your editorial on vandalism to street signs and the taxpayer's costs? What part of this is underwritten by the Auto Club, since it is their trucks replacing these signs morning after morning?"

It is my understanding that while the Auto Club provides signs, the cost is borne by the city or county—thus you and me.

High cost of governing

We received much comment relative to government, particularly the costs thereof—and taxes:

"This family feels your paper is excellent and . . . the only source of handling the main problems that concern the 'disorganized majority.' We have no organized group to handle the many things that affect us, mainly as property owners and taxpayers. It will have to be a paper like The Sun to get a real drive started and keep at it, to make any progress to reduce taxes of all kinds?"

My comment: Rarely does a week pass that the Sun doesn't have an editorial or story on taxes. We will keep on this.

Another asks for ". . . more detail on county matters and more effort to reduce taxes and less loafing in all county offices."

Another addition

As a result of the survey, The Sun is now printing more county government news. More comment:

"Avaunt all hand-shaking, check-passing, beaming-over-mutual-accomplishment pictures! Couldn't we have an occasional picture of a taxpayer aiming a punch at a representative of the county, please?"

This reader, we love: "Couldn't possibly get along without The Sun and get awfully cross at the people who don't take it and are always phoning me for information contained therein."

All this and "a good garbage wrapper, too!"

Here's Your Chance to Help A Really Worthwhile Person

Who do you know in your community that has done an outstanding, selfless job helping to make this a better place to live?

We'll bet, if you'll stop to think about it, that there are plenty of people who would be sorely missed if they were not around to do the work that they do.

AND THESE PEOPLE are seldom thanked for the many hours of their own time which they devote to community affairs, and incidentally, to your benefit.

There comes a time each year, however, when a little something can be done. Not much, considering the number of really worthy individuals in this community, but at least something.

That is the annual Sun Man of the Year Award. It is presented, each year, to the person deemed to have done the most to make this community a better place in which to live.

The selection of this person, either a man or a woman, is made by an unbiased committee of outstanding residents of the community. This committee does not have an easy task.

As you know, there are many, many people who have given of their time and talents. Local improvement association leaders, civic workers, and sometimes, just plain people who have worked for the betterment of the community in their own personal ways.

IF YOU WILL look at page one of this Sun, you will find that a committee is hard at work selecting a Man of the Year. The task of this group would be much easier if you would offer your suggestions.

The committee will appreciate it, and it will be your chance to recognize somebody whom you think has really done an outstanding job.

Why not do it now? See the front page story for details.

Naturally, This Doesn't Happen in Your Family...

Most people, it seems, like to partake of holiday cheer.

Most people also don't relish the idea of ending up on a slab at the morgue, but it happens every day.

And most frequently over the holiday season.

If you've read this far, you have probably already thought to yourself, "fine, but this doesn't apply to me. It always happens to somebody else."

THAT, FRIEND, is where you're wrong.

We'll bet that every one of last year's holiday fatalities thought exactly the same thing. And we'll bet that it didn't help the heartbroken wife (or husband) who was left at home with the children.

Children, incidentally, who would be spending Christmas without one or both parents.

The point doesn't need belaboring. Just make sure that one of your family isn't missing when Christmas (or New Year's) comes around.

There is one other factor that goes along with the traditional holiday cheer, too. It doesn't come close to the first for importance, but it can make a lot of difference to the children (and Christmas is for the children, isn't it?).

HAVE A DRINK, if you will, with the fellows at the office. Go to the office party, too.

But don't come home loaded — especially on Christmas Eve. If you manage to make it home (if you're driving) just consider the spectacle you offer the children when everything is foggy in your brain, and you tend to snap at both the kids and your wife.

It doesn't make for the merriest of Christmases, does it?

But then, this doesn't happen in your family either, does it?

The Staff Corner

A Holiday Illusion Dies...

By NORMAN COLBY

Someday when I get my life more organized and on a systematic basis, I'm going to join the Christmas Club — and be like those lucky guys who have plenty of cash saved up for the December emergency, I tell myself every year about this time.

It will be so easy then. I'll just wait for the check's arrival, and with the carols ringing in my ears, I'll buy big, fat presents for everyone, I tell myself.

None of this last-minute "to hell with the bills" or final whittling down of my Christmas list to the precious few who will be sending me gifts.

I'LL REALLY BE able to enter into the true Christmas spirit with a big wad of Christmas Club folding money!

But last week, a pretty young girl who works as a bank teller confided that she used her Christmas Club money this year to make a down payment on a new car.

Into my astounded ears she also poured the fact that most Christmas Clubbers who stick with their saving program throughout the year use the money to pay their December installment of property taxes.

A little may be left over for gifting friends, she explained.

SHE ADDED that some of her friends find that Christmas Club money comes in handier for those party and liquor expenses which are inevitable.

A bank official also had a comment. "Most of the people who start the Christmas Club finish it, but you would be amazed where the checks are negotiated," he said.

"I would say that the club savings include presents, but they generally cover the entire range of year-end expenses," he added candidly.

THIS NEW KNOWLEDGE lightened my guilt feelings as I applied for my annual Christmas loan. It will be paid off just before next Christmas.

Gold, Crystal Predominate At Art League Party

The home of Mrs. Timothy Colvin in Sleepy Hollow was opened last Tuesday to members of the Art League of the East Bay, for their traditional Christmas meeting. Assisting Mrs. Colvin in greeting the more than 50 members who attended the affair was Mrs. Timothy Layden.

A 12 foot high Douglas fir tree was hung exclusively with crystal ornaments and throughout the rooms of the house pots of white azaleas were mixed with gold and crystal decorations. The only color noted was the pink champagne served.

Among those members of the Art League from Orinda were Mesdames Oliver Gardner, Paul Heffernan, Alex Konkin, Arthur Sassone, A. H. Thompson Jr., Tevis Thompson.

Mrs. John Gilcrest Is Swallow Unit President

As a grand finale to her busy year as president of the Swallows of the Mount Diablo Therapy Unit, Mrs. Richard Emory of Lafayette conducted the installation of new officers for the unit for the ensuing year. The luncheon meeting Tuesday noon was arranged by Mrs. Bruce Stringer and was held at the Orinda Willows.

Replacing Mrs. Emory as president was Mrs. John Gilcrest of Lafayette. Others installed were the Mesdames Dick Rockwell, Lafayette, vice president; Frank Wick, Lafayette, treasurer; E. S. Taylor, Orinda, corresponding secretary; Charles Nunes, Lafayette, recording secretary, and Richard Emory, Lafayette, parliamentarian.

The gaiety of the Christmas holidays was marked by a spirit of dedication by the members to continue their efforts in behalf of the Mount Diablo Therapy Center and its continuing program of rehabilitation.

Delta Zetas Have Holiday Fun Party

Holiday fun highlighted the meeting of local Delta Zeta alumnae on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Horton Hill, 144 Overhill Road, Orinda.

Mrs. William Crepps, Mt. Diablo chapter president, played Santa Claus for the members' annual Christmas ornament or decoration exchange. Fruit cakes in gift tins were offered for sale by Mrs. Fred Kelleway, chairman of this project.

Sandra Stahl Is Wed To Dr. William Laughlin

Large baskets of chrysanthemums flanked the altar of Trinity Lutheran Church, setting the scene for Sandra Sheridan Stahl's marriage to Dr. William Albrecht Laughlin on November 25 in Walnut Creek.

Reverend Martin Wefelmann of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Danville, officiated. Alcolytes were John Mayhew and Dan Nesset.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Captain Charles R. Stahl. Preceding the bride down the white carpet spread on the aisle in her honor were Mrs. Fritz Haas, matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, who were Cindy Fouse, Lynn Fairchild, Pamela Torbett, Karen Chastain, and the flower girl, Gwendolyn Johnson.

Carrying a white prayer book topped with three Amazon orchids with stephanotis trailing down the streamers, the bride wore a full length gown of Alencon lace and taffeta. Her bouffant skirt with lace front and taffeta back with self roses cascading down the back to form a chapel train, was attached to a fitted long sleeved lace bodice with square neckline dotted with pearls.

A pearl crown with lace flowers held her fingertip veil of silk illusion edged with lace.

The matron of honor wore a princess style dinner dress of dusty rose satin. The bridesmaids' gowns were identical to that of the matron of honor, but in twilight blue satin. The bridal party carried bouquets of light pink carnations.

The flower girl wore a floor length dress of white organza over taffeta with a dusty rose ribbon sash. She carried a nosegay of sweetheart roses and carnations.

Dr. Kenneth E. Cornell served as his cousin's best man. Dr. Thomas T. Laughlin and Robert L. Laughlin, brothers of the groom, and Harold A. Johnson and Theodore D. Johnson, brothers-in-law of the groom, served as ushers. Andrew Stahl, the bride's brother, was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Stahl wore a gown of draped matt-jersey in aqua blue with a corsage of double cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Laughlin chose a gown of beige brocade with jacket and a corsage of double cymbidium orchids.

After a reception held at the Alamo Women's Club for more than 375 guests, the couple left for a three week honeymoon in Hawaii. They will make their home in Berkeley.

Andrew Hartanov Keeps His Family Well Organized

This Dad Is Leading Man In Home and Community!

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Andrew S. Hartanov of 151 Camino Don Miguel, Orinda, personifies Webster's definition of father, that is, "one who cares, the leading man of a family, country, city or council."

A successful business man, full time Dad and civic leader, it's easy to understand why Phyllis Hartanov spoke of her husband thusly, "I don't see how he does it all . . . working all day, then when he comes home everyone always has something for Daddy to do, and after that there are usually civic or church meetings of one kind or another."

FATHER OF TWO girls and two boys, Andrew Hartanov manages to participate in their activities and at the same time be a leader in the Orinda Community Church and Orinda civic affairs.

His service has included the presidency and member of the board of directors of the Hacienda Improvement Association; civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association; Parents, Advisory committee at Miramonte High School; board of trustee and co-chairman with Mrs. Hartanov of the Orinda Community Church couples club.

LEISURE TIME FUN for Hartanov is usually golf or swimming with his sons, or skiing with all four youngsters. "We don't ski," Mrs. Hartanov remarked, "but we try to take the children skiing frequently."

"We take along books, letters to write and have a happy time relaxing while they ski. We're planning to spend Christmas week at Squaw Valley."

Several times a year Hartanov takes the family to San Francisco for the symphony. Both Phyllis and Andrew Hartanov enjoy bridge and dancing, with reading (serious books) filling in any spare moments.

Speaking of her husband's interest in civic affairs, Mrs. Hartanov said, "We both feel that organizations such as the Hacienda Improvement Association and the Orinda Association are essential to the community as we have no official paid government body."

"WHEN WE FIRST came to Orinda nine years ago, our friends and neighbors interested us in community affairs, and believing in the importance of our organizations to the community, we have tried to participate fully."

The Hartanovs came to Orinda from Richmond, Virginia, where, Mrs. Hartanov said, "We liked living better than anywhere except Orinda." Originally both came from the Midwest.

"It seems as tough we're terribly busy," Mrs. Hartanov remarked, "but I don't really think I'm accomplishing a lot." Anyone else taking even a cursory glance at her activities would be inclined to disagree.

OVER A PERIOD of time Mrs. Hartanov has served on the civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association, the Orinda High School Mothers Club, and worked with Girl Scouts, continuing this service long after her own girls were through with scouting.

She is currently chairman of the room mothers at Pine Grove, on the Altar committee of the Orinda Community Church, chairman of the sponsors committee for the eighth grade Country Cotillion, circle chairman for her church guild, member of the League of Women Voters, "and tries to support philanthropic groups through her helping her friends who belong to various branches, guilds and units."

A HISTORY and art major, Mrs. Hartanov particularly likes her work with the altar committee as she has the opportunity to create lovely floral arrangements.

"I don't do much of it now," she said, "but I do like to work with pottery and jewelry, too. At one time I had my own studio and I still have the kilns."

Mrs. Hartanov's "secret passion" is flying. "My husband takes rather a dim view of this and we don't discuss it at home. The boys are very enthusiastic, but the girls agree with their father," she confessed.

FLYING OUT OF Buchanan Field, Mrs. Hartanov first became interested through Mary Dorr, former Orinda resident and noted lecturer, who flies her own plane.

With 2½ hours flying time and a few solo hops, Mrs. Hartanov is looking forward to the day when she obtains her pilot's license. "Certain members of the family found it hard to believe I had soloed," she recounted, "but the boys fixed that. They remarked to the girls and my husband, 'and you should have seen her bounce when she landed!'"

The two girls, Tammie, 19, a sophomore at Diablo Valley, and Natalie, 17, a senior at Miramonte, toured Europe last summer with the Y Friendship Tour.

"I COULD GO on about their trip for hours," their mother remarked, "it was a wonderful experience and they would like to return. The girls earned half their trip expenses by baby sitting and working in Ogden's."

Tammie is interested in art and has studied oil painting at the California College of Arts and Crafts. "We have some of her work about the house, not because we feel we should, but because we really enjoy it," her mother commented.

Natalie is senior editor of the Miramonte yearbook, a member of the rally committee and the Ski Club. She's looking forward to majoring in home economics at college.

Both girls will be away at college next year.

DREW, THE Hartanovs 13 year old son, is interested in all sports and is very "socially inclined," according to his mother. His parents give parties for him at home about every two months.

"The youngsters do all the decorating and planning," she said, "and they all seem to have a good time. We love having the young people here, and they are a fine group. We never have any trouble."

Manager of the Pine Grove football team, Drew also played baseball during the summer with the junior baseball league. He's bugler for his Boy Scout troop, plays two ukeleles he brought back from the family's trip to Hawaii and plays first trombone in the school orchestra.

Women in The Sun

Friday, December 16, 1960

Drew also likes to play the piano, and includes skiing and swimming in his sports interests. No playboy, this lad also works hard at a paper route, according to his mother.

PAUL HARTANOV, 11, is a sixth grade student at Pine Grove and plays A string football. He sings in the school chorus and is as avid a ski fan as the rest of the family.

"All the children have assigned tasks about the house," Mrs. Hartanov revealed. "They do not get paid, even when they were younger and it was treehouse activity, baseball and Girl Scouts!"

RIGHT NOW the family is feeling sad, according to Mrs. Hartanov, who said, "We're low on animals, we lost three cats this summer and we're down to only two, one of which is a Siamese kitten that thinks he rules the roost."

"Usually we have dogs and cats, you know, everyone has their own pet, but just now, except for the gold fish, we are down to two pets."

The Hartanov family may be "low on animals" but they are high on love of people, interest in their church and community. Their Orinda neighbors are mighty glad Andrew and Phyllis Hartanov chose Orinda for their home.

Winter Ball Escorts Named

The finishing touches are being put on the gala package that is the Winter Ball to be held Thursday at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley.

Escorts for the debutantes, who will curtsy at the 1960 cotillion sponsored for the benefit of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay by the Hill Branch, as well as members of the floor committee, were announced this week.

Sam Hubbard, son of Mrs. Cynthia Hubbard of Lafayette;

Edgar F. Kaiser, Jr., son of the Edgar F. Kaisers of Lafayette, and Robert Kerner Shurtliff, son of the Eugene Shurtliffs of Orinda, are the local lads on the escort roster. Shurtliff will escort Orinda deb Deborah Marie Smith, while the Bay area buds, Lilia Marie Johnson and Diana Gay Meek, will be squired to the Garden room by young Hubbard and Kaiser, Jr.

Contra Costans who will serve in festive formality as members of the 1960 Winter Ball floor committee are George G. Hall and John B. Knox Jr., both of Orinda, as well as Lloyd Swayne Jr. and E. F. Cardin Jr., both of Lafayette.

Another post-ball party added to the busy cotillion calendar is the luncheon on December 28 that Mrs. Stephen Jensen will hostess at her Charles Hill home in honor of debutantes Deborah Smith, Sylvia Bolman and Joan Borden, all of Orinda. Stephanie Jensen, daughter of the hostess, was presented at the 1959 cotillion.

The floor committee were honored with their wives as a cocktail party last Friday at the home of Mrs. R. C. Force. William Hager is chairman of the floor committee and will be assisted by Leroy Krusi.

Almona OES Christmas Party Planned

Women's Guild Enjoys Annual Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party of the Orinda Community Church Guild was held recently in Fellowship Hall.

It is a tradition each year for the outgoing board members to be hostesses for this special luncheon affair. Also traditional was Mrs. John Ogden's devotional story of the Nativity and Mary Dorr's Christmas Story.

According to Mrs. Charles Nelson, program chairman, Christmas caroling was led by a women's ensemble from the choir under the direction of Donald Hartsell.

Guild members also brought Christmas gifts which Philanthropy Chairman Mrs. John Traynor will present to the County Hospital for patients. This is also a long established custom of the Guild Christmas party.

General chairman for the party, Mrs. Robeson E. Smith, was assisted by officers of the general board for 1960. A decorating committee under the direction of Mrs. O. I. Losey created table decorations of poinsettias and pine cones.

In charge of luncheon set-up was Mrs. Wm. Penn Mott Jr. and Mrs. Fred T. Fox and her committee prepared the food.

Mrs. Andrew Hartanov, Circle I chairman, wishes to announce that members of her

For those with skiers on the Christmas list, getting something for their Christmas stocking shouldn't present any problem at all. There is a multitude of useful accessories available, all guaranteed to brighten the life of your favorite schuss boomer.

The principal items of equipment, i.e., skis and boots, normally should be left to his choice. Since fit and individual preference are so important with these items, they should be left to the subject's own choice. However, there are any number of items that will always be welcome and useful as gifts.

One such article would be turtle neck shirts. Moderately priced and available in a variety of colors, they are always a welcome addition to the skier's wardrobe, as he or she seldom has too many. Gloves are always a fine gift. Look for a good leather, fleece-lined pair to keep his pinksies warm. No skier ever has enough sweaters. Check some of the imported beauties currently featured in the ski shops. Here, let your pocketbook be your guide.

If your skier has been known to develop a thirst on the slope, try one of the Basque botas now available. Ski goggles are a necessity, and since they are easily misplaced, it never hurts to have an extra pair. Boot trees to insure the proper care of your ski boots are an excellent gift item.

After-ski boots are a prime requirement in any skier's wardrobe. Get a pair that will stand up under wear, and still provide warmth and protection.

An authentic Tyrol hat, complete with brush and pins will give your skier character, more character. Thus the list goes on, but then perhaps you have the idea by now.

Speaking of ski shops, approximately 50 of the leading shops in Northern California have joined together and established the Northern California Ski Dealers Association.

The purpose of the group is developing standards of safety, improvement of ski equipment and to better serve the skier in this area. A distinctive deal identifies certified shops belonging to the group.

It was just a few years ago that the skier in renting equipment more or less took his life into his own hands. Some of the equipment shoved off on the renter was deplorable, in some cases, outright dangerous. Since that time standards have improved considerably, and now through the Ski Dealers Association, continued high standards are assured.

Bruce Hamilton has been tapped to lead the Las Lomas Ski Club. What this group of youngsters might lack in experience, they certainly make up in enthusiasm.

Again this year they have as their goal a week end trip to Yosemite. Self-financed by the various projects undertaken by the club, the trip in the past has always been highly successful.

Hamilton discusses the possibility of challenging other such clubs in the area to some competition.

Actually, since there are ski clubs at all the high schools in the general area, there are unlimited opportunities the youngsters could take advantage of.

Las Lomas Downs Ram Cage Teams

The Las Lomas Knights played their best of the season Tuesday afternoon as they toppled the Pleasant Hill Rams in a pair of practice basketball games.

The games, played on the Knights' hardwood, found the Lomas five taking the varsity game, 51-36, and the Bee encounter, 35-23.

THE VARSITY loss was the first for the Rams after they had won five in a row, while the Knights won their only other practice game and last weekend won all their games in the Miramonte tournament.

In the Ram varsity game the Knights took a 13-7 first quarter lead and made it 26-16 at the half.

The Rams picked up 10 points in the third quarter but lost ground as the Knights hit the hoop for 16.

Reserves took over for both clubs late in the game and the Pleasant Hill Club outscored the home team, 10-9, only to lose out, 51-36. Knight forward Bob Nichols was the big gun as he hit for nine field goals and added a free throw for 19 points and game scoring honors.

TEAMMATES Rene Brandol had 11, while Rod Holcombe tanked nine, with Bob Jensen high for the Rams as he bagged an even eight points.

In the Bee game the Lomas little men won 35-23 after holding a 21-11 advantage. High for the Knights were Doug Turner and Keith Howard, who each had 12 points; while for the Rams it was Bob Kimball with eight.

1961 Sports Previewed

By ERWIN MATTSON

The good old year of 1960 is rapidly drawing to a close and it might be a good time to review the results of fall sports and come up with a quick review on the outlook for 1961 spring sports.

In the Foothill League, the play was of high caliber all around, especially considering the fact it is a new league and as such has had to iron out a number of regulations and administrative problems.

MIRAMONTE had a big fall in athletics, in fact the best in their history, as they won the J.V. football, cross country and tennis titles.

The Acalanes Dons tied for varsity honors with Piedmont, while the Acalanes frosh gridders went undefeated, although tied once, to gain the top spot.

In the Foothill League, the prospects for 1961 look to be as follows: Basketball, Las Lomas looks to be the team to beat. Coach Merrill Callow, as always, has done a fine job and appears to have enough veterans and good all around balance to go all the way.

IT WON'T BE an easy path, though, as Miramonte and Piedmont look to be teams capable of upsetting any one on a given game. Acalanes looks to be an in-and-out and a club that hasn't settled down as yet.

San Ramon appears to be at their best in recent years and could prove to be the surprise club, while Alhambra, new to the league, is finding the opposition of a high caliber and one that has given them plenty of trouble.

In track, look for the Acalanes Dons to come up with a strong team and the choice to be tops in the league, with Piedmont and Miramonte furnishing the top opposition.

In wrestling, Miramonte has a veteran team and showings to date give credence to their being picked as pre-season title winners.

IN GOLF, it's a tossup between Acalanes and Las Lomas, while swimming rates the Lomas Knights as favorites despite a heavy loss by graduation.

In baseball, Miramonte appears loaded, particularly if they come up with help in the pitching department, with Alhambra also looming strong and Acalanes, along with Las Lomas, as real dark horses.

Reviewing the Contra Costa Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League, Mt. Diablo's Red Devils proved to be a powerhouse as they swept through the league and won their third title in a row.

Coach Hart Fairclough received additional honors as coach of the year plus his selection as one of the Shrine North-South coaches.

Clayton Valley set national records in cross country and won the title, while Pleasant Hill took the tennis title.

THE PROSPECTS in the coming spring sports find the Diablo

Red Devils and Pittsburg Pirates as co-favorites in basketball, while in baseball it's the Devils again.

Golf is a tossup at this point, while wrestling points to the strong Pleasant Hill Rams, who won the North Coast title last year and have enough left to win on a league basis and still remain a threat in the North Coast section.

Swimming looks to be on the downgrade with some schools dropping out, and here it remains to be seen just how many and what schools will take part.

The fact remains that local prep sports like the area itself, are growing bigger and its to be hoped, better. All leagues are having growing pains and the problems of what leagues each school should be in will continue to be a headache to those in charge, as size, distance apart and tradition all complicate the picture.

Rigney Gets Managerial Post in LA

Bill Rigney, popular Walnut Creek resident, was announced early this week as field manager of the Los Angeles Angels.

The Angels are the newest entry in the expansion plan of the American Baseball League.

Rigney, widely known in local circles, was deposed as manager of the San Francisco Giants in what has been described as Horace Stoneman's biggest boner.

RIGNEY had the club in second place at the time of his dismissal and they backslid from then on. He was raised in Oakland and went to grade and high school there before signing with the now defunct Oakland Oaks in the Pacific Coast League.

He moved up to big league play with the Giants, who were then in New York and had his career interrupted when World War II came along.

It was into the Navy and at one time he was stationed at St. Mary's pre-flight school, where many saw him in action as an outstanding shortstop who was always referred to as "that thin player with the rifle arm."

THE WAR'S end found him returning to the Giants and after several outstanding seasons as a regular he turned to managing the Minneapolis ball club, which at the time was a Giants' farm club.

Here he was most successful and when the opportunity arose he was moved up as manager of the New York Giants in 1956, and came west with them when the move was made to San Francisco.

Rigney at 41 is recognized as one of the hardest working managers in the business and with a team to be picked up in a player draft will have his work cut out for him.

HE LEFT early in the week to attend the draft meeting held Wednesday in Boston.

Red Devils, Rams Sweep Through Visiting Teams

The Mt. Diablo Red Devils and the Pleasant Hill Rams held a unique basketball event over the weekend as they shared opponents and took turns playing host to and defeating Red Bluff and St. Ignatius High of San Francisco.

The event was a two-night affair with Friday games being played at Mt. Diablo High's gym and Pleasant Hill doing the honors on Saturday.

IN FRIDAY'S play, Pleasant Hill defeated Red Bluff, 45-42, while the Red Devils took St. Ignatius, 44-35.

Terry Hughes kept the Rams in front with a nifty 16 points while Ken Hammer was top scorer for the Devils with 12. The night's scoring individual honors, however, went to Red Bluff's Mike Cecil, who bagged 20.

In Saturday's play, Pleasant Hill stayed in the undefeated ranks as they upended St. Ignatius 47-43, while Mt. Diablo rolled over Red Bluff, 53-37.

A COMMITTEE picked Diablo as the tournament's outstanding team and, in addition, placed the Devils' forward, Tom Brown, and guard, Mike Sweeney, on the all-star five.

Others rating the honor were guard Terry Hughes for the Rams, Mike Cecil of Red Bluff at center and guard Steve Watson of St. Ignatius.

Madigan Still In Serious Condition

Providence Hospital officials in Oakland reported this week that the condition of E. P. (Skip) Madigan, former St. Mary's College football coach, is "slightly improved" but still serious.

Madigan, 65-year-old resident of Oakland, was stricken with a critical heart attack last week.

Hats Off To...

Two Popular Residents, Rigney and Lavegetto

The Sun would like to offer hearty congratulations and the best of luck to a popular and humble Walnut Creek resident, Bill Rigney. "Rig," the deposed manager of our hometown San Francisco Giants, this week was named to manage the Los Angeles Angels, the newest club in baseball's expanded American League.

CENTRAL COUNTY baseball fans felt stunned and stunned by Rigney's firing last summer, and we are all certain he will do the best possible job in his new role as a major league manager.

His will be no easy task—leading a team which will be made up of major league cast-offs—but with Rigney at the helm, the new Angels will be a team with which to reckon in future years.

And while we're on the subject of the expanded American League, let us offer best wishes also to Harry (Cookie) Lavegetto of Orinda, the well-liked manager of the old Washington Senators.

LAVEGETTO WAS rehired earlier this year to move with the team to its new location at Minneapolis-St. Paul, where it will be known as "The Minnesota Twins."

Hats off to both of the central county's major league managers!

Plenty of Fish Waiting For Cold, Wet Anglers

By LARRY JACKSON

In spite of the storm cast up Saturday, fishing in the area was tops again during the week. There are plenty of fish waiting for the eager hook, but the fishermen have taken it easy during the rain and the cold spell.

The hottest spot we found all week was the McAvoy Yacht Harbor at Shore Acres. This local spot is the haven for the private boat owners, not only from this area, but from many adjacent towns and cities.

Listed by Mrs. Oscar Phillips at the harbor headquarters were persons from Hayward and other western and southern points.

McAvoy's Harbor had about 200 craft in their slips and with the exception of the turbulent days up to 175 craft are cruising out of this port on the pleasant weekends. This is an excellent operation for the boater who wants to be close by and get away from the long haul.

The wharf addicts have had steady fishing all during the past week at White's Fishing Resort. Nothing in the top brackets as far as fish is concerned, but up to our rainy Saturday the catches were more than satisfactory.

Duck hunters had their opening of the second half of the season ruined by the bluebird weather Sunday. Reports showed plenty of birds in the areas, but without the rain and wind they sat it out in the red ponds or came through on wing too high for good shooting.

The kill, as far as we could find out, was at a minimum, whether it be Butte City, Suisun or Manteca. Plenty of food, plenty of birds, but little action.

Lafayette dentist Dr. Jack Hansen, just back from a hunting safari in the Alaskan Yukon territory, returned with a mountain sheep with a beautiful head that placed his trophy in the Boone-Crocket competition.

This is quite a feat, as few sheep of trophy size have been registered this year. Dr. Jack also bagged deer, bear and a prize moose head which will be on display at Kelly's Sporting Goods in Lafayette as soon as the taxidermy is completed.

A group of Walnut Creek sportsmen recently returned from a 10-day trip into the Salmon River area of Idaho. Ham Davis, Frank Martinez, Bill Snyder and Frank Borges brought out four deer and three elk, with Borges' animal taking the head prize with a fine six-point spread. This is almost tops for an elk spread!

The boys talked mostly about the excellent steelie fishing they found in the area. Fish in the 36-inch category were the rule rather than the exception.

Foothill League Holds Novice Wrestling Meet

The Foothill League Novice Wrestling Tournament was held at Las Lomas High Saturday and found more than 80 bouts taking until late afternoon to run off.

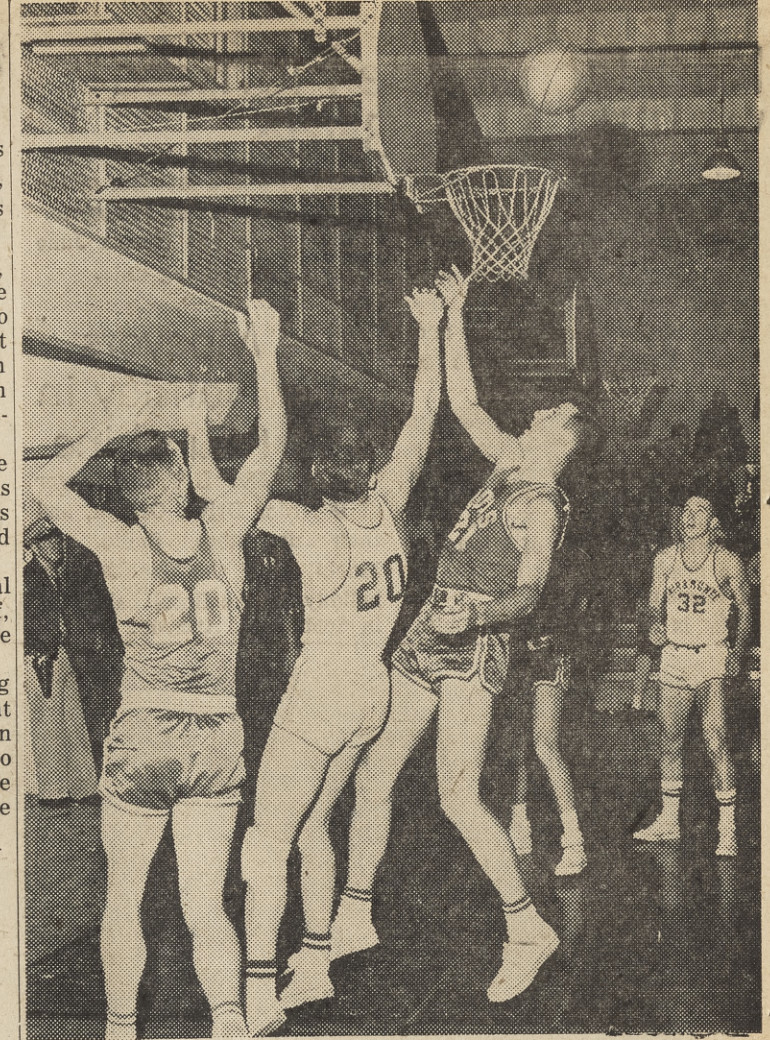

The first four place winners in each of the 13 weight divisions were awarded ribbons.

They were: 95, John Settle, LL; Steve Warren, SR; Dean French, M; Bob Louis, A. 103, Paul Christensen, DV; Gerry Hopkins, M; Gary Crabb, SR; Bob Klitgaard, A. 112, Dave Sharon, A; Dick Brown, M; John Kelly, M; Bob Carlson, LL.

120, Rober Montabano, A; Frank Miller, LL; Chuck Nungesser, DV; David Hinds, DV. 127, Cliff Webb, LL; Ramon Escobedo, A; Rich Ensminger, A; Ross Brown, DV. 133, Chip Smith, M; Gailey Huff, LL; Larry Gabie, LL; Tony Lombardi, A.

133, George Williams, LL; Cliff Masson, M; Jim Christman, DV; Bob Balser, A. 145, Walt Perkins, LL; Jim Higgins, LL; Bill Cooper, M; Bill Downey, A. 154, John Schofield, DV; Tom Hargreaves, SR; Harvey Rogers, A; Bob Phillip, M.

165, Pete Stoll, M; Gary Reynolds, LL; Bob Benker, DV; Otto

LEAPING HIGH to grab a rebound are Mike McQuaid (20 in white jersey) of Miramonte and Doug Treter (21) of Acalanes during Saturday's game between the two teams at the annual Miramonte Tournament. Acalanes won the game, 19-17. The mythical tournament title went to Las Lomas, the only undefeated five at the end of the two nights of competition. The Knights also placed three men on the tournament's all-star five.

Knights Dominate Play In Miramonte Tournament

The Las Lomas Knights showed at the end of play found the way Friday and Saturday nights as they took on all other members of the Foothill League in abbreviated games and came through as the only undefeated five and then dominated the all-tournament team selections.

All games were of 20 minute duration, with each team going to the post twice each evening.

IN FRIDAY'S play Las Lomas whipped Piedmont, 39-26, and nailed Acalanes, 29-17.

Miramonte stayed in the race Friday as they outscored Alhambra, 31-46, and upended Piedmont, 32-16. Acalanes rounded out the first night's play by taking San Ramon, 30-19, while San Ramon chalked up a 34-31 win over Alhambra.

In Saturday's play the Knights dropped Alhambra, 34-18, and San Ramon, 22-20.

MIRAMONTE defeated San Ramon the hard way when they won in an overtime, 29-26, on Doug Hudson's field goal, only to lose to Acalanes in the closing seconds, 18-17.

In another overtime, Piedmont edged Acalanes, 32-31.

Though Valley Is in Fog, The Folk Are Enlightened

By YVONNE MAUZY
DR 6-4083

The fogs have come to the valley and have wrapped the hills in a veil of mist. The sounds in the whiteness of the fogs seem to magnify as if through lack of sight our hearing becomes more acute, or the fogs intensify the noises.

The whole valley was shrouded the other day. Then as I returned home to Orchard Dell the sun was shining through like a spotlight on a Christmas tree on to the tops of the houses.

Though our valley is in fog our teachers are being enlightened. Bob Trask spent the weekend in Alisomar on the Monterey peninsula. Asilomar is part of the YMCA conference grounds. They are meeting there studying new ideas in math with the idea of a revision of the whole math program in the next five years.

Dr. Teller of the University of California gave a talk, "Pyramid of Puzzles," about present day math and doing better jobs in today's world. Demonstration classes were held and study groups chose the subjects they were most interested in. These classes were headed by people who were qualified in each field of endeavor. These were professors from colleges throughout the United States.

Talks were given by Helen Hofferman of the chief bureau of elementary education of California State Department of Education, and Frances Mueller, assistant to the president of the University of Rhode Island at Kingston. There were 1800 people from all over the U.S. participating in this conference even though it was for Northern California. These people are all interested in helpful changes in the next few years.

The sixth grade Girl Scouts of Troop 23 led the Pledge of Allegiance at the last meeting of the Parents' Club. Members of the color guard were Melanie Boswell, Carol Tarpley, Judy Lieberman and Alice Reif.

John Thune gave a very interesting talk about his third trip with a group of Y students on an 80-day trip to 17 countries across the Atlantic. Thirty-eight students, ages 17 to 19, left the San Francisco Airport June 18. There were 20 girls and 18 boys to be our ambassadors of good will to other nations, including Russia.

They were to find the melting point in the hearts of all mankind and practice the Y's motto of "Brotherhood throughout the world."

After Mr. Thune's talk, the seventh and eighth grades were dismissed and the past presidents of the Mothers' Club were introduced. The ones present were Hilda Franklin, Jo Baitz, Irene Rohrer, Betty Parker and Jerry Tarpley.

Jean Blackmer, assistant education chairman, stated our school was averaging an increase of eight students per month. We would need three to five elementary schools to support one junior high school.

Bob Amber was present with an original map and an overlay of the present planning for the Rheem area.

Rheem School vacation begins today and continues through January 3, giving the students a vacation of 17 days. Christmas parties will be held the last hour of class today.

Farewell to Nancy Garverick, our third grade teacher, who will be leaving school at the start of Christmas vacation. We will all miss you, Nancy.

Mrs. Ardis Breslauer, a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, will be our new third grade teacher. She has been visiting the class this week and will take over when school convenes again.

Mrs. Breslauer came from Mt. Rainier, Maryland, where she was teaching and her husband was stationed. He is out of service now and working for an engineering firm in Berkeley. Welcome to our school, Mrs. Breslauer.

The Stanford school planning laboratory gave an oral report on their progress. They showed aerial plots with an overlay showing present population, lots, future construction and 'project growth. This overlay will be kept up to date. The planning group will give a report for the next five months and then a final report. These reports have figures from the county, Utah Construction and from various other places.

This study shows about 1.27 grade school children per home coming from the Camino Pablo area and .82 from the Rheem area. The study includes future school site planning, when to buy and what sites will be needed, with an expectation of five to 7000 students when the area is completely saturated with homes.

Jack Buckman gave a report on the Camino Pablo school progress. They have slowed down some due to the rains, water and mud. The foundations are 90 per cent completed.

At the first meeting of the curriculum study committee, Bob Trask gave a report on social studies, reading and arithmetic materials covered in the various grades. Mr. Toll presented the school handbook to the board.

The pool planning committee for Orchard Dell met with the builder the other night to go over the plans. We are aiming for a completed pool this summer. New people interested in joining, contact Bob DeJohn. Though the fogs have slowed the traffic, they haven't seemed to slow the progress of the committees for they have all come forward with many new ideas this past week, as this article will show.

Check Heaters, Avoid Danger, Says Health Man

"Many deaths from carbon monoxide will be avoided this winter if all fuel-burning equipment is kept clean and in good working condition," said Dr. W. A. Ketterer, assistant county health officer.

"The beginning of the heating season is the best time to inspect and clean your heating equipment."

"A simple precaution is vacuuming or brushing the lint and dust from around heaters, water heater controls, openings of burners and furnace pits and filters," he said.

"Just this past winter a Contra Costa needlessly died and others were hospitalized from a self-installed gas heater."

"Installation and adjustment of heating equipment is not a job to be tackled by 'do-it-yourself' fans."

"Home owners, tenants, managers and owners of rental units should not assume the responsibility for installing, adjusting, changing or repairing heating equipment themselves."

"Play it safe—call an appliance dealer, heating contractor or plumber. For inspection or advice, public utility or building department representatives are glad to serve you."

Swim Aids Will Sponsor Party at St. Mary's Pool

When the Acalanes Swim Aids sponsor a Christmas party tomorrow at 10 a.m. on deck at the indoor St. Mary's College swim pool, their 39 guests will represent ages from six to sixty, students of the Swimming For The Handicapped program.

Under the chairmanship of Sue Banks, Kathy Lewis and Kathy Phillips, Swim Aids of the Red Cross-sponsored program have been busy filling gift stockings from their own allowances and earnings.

Adult organizers of the party are Phillip and "Sue" Springman of Lafayette, swim instructors, who both have devoted their time and talents to this unique form of therapy for the handicapped.

Cubs Celebrate With Yule Party

Members of Orinda Cub Scout Pack 225 enjoyed a Christmas party at Glorietta School recently. As is their annual custom, each Cub helped decorate the school Christmas tree with an ornament he had made.

During the past month the boys have taken orders for holly sprays to be delivered in mid-December. This year they sold over 400 bags of holly. The profits from this endeavor will be donated to a worthy cause as a Christmas gift from the pack.

Christmas carols were sung to the accompaniment of a band composed of Cubs from Den 2 and Boy Scouts who were formerly members of Pack 225.

The following boys received their bear awards: Gary Mendenhall, Ken Nattress and Bill Wignall. Silver and gold arrows were presented to Carl Radtke, Rod Jenks, Curt Radtke, Walt Sparkuhl, Doug Skilling, Stan Osmunson, Hank Fernsten, Pete Heckathorn, John Herlihy and Greg Wagers. Dennis Galvan received his one-year star.

The high point of the party was reached when Santa Claus arrived with candy canes for all the Cubs as well as their sisters and brothers.

Some boys were heard to comment that Santa's voice was similar to that of Jack Clark, principal of Glorietta School.

Local Boy Scouts Get High Award

Boy Scout Troop 223 of Lafayette is the first Scout unit in either the Meridian District or the newly organized Or-La-Mo District to receive the Fiftieth Anniversary Achievement Award.

The troop received the President Eisenhower Streamer and the boys have earned a permanent patch, which is worn on the left breast pocket over the service stars.

Iowa Test Is 'Formidable' —Three Days!

The Iowa Test of Educational Development is being given to all freshman and junior students of the Acalanes High School District, starting this week and continuing next week.

Through these tests, evaluation of student progress from the freshman to junior years can be made since comparative analyses are made of previous and current test results.

In the past, results indicated that Acalanes District students perform extremely well. Last year they placed considerably above the national average, said administrators.

The tests, which have no effect on students' grades, cover understanding of basic social concepts, ability to interpret literary materials, ability to do quantitative thinking, ability to interpret reading materials in the social studies, general vocabulary, uses of sources of information, background in natural sciences, correctness and appropriateness of expression, ability to interpret materials in the natural sciences.

Most of the students are pleased to be missing three half days of classes.

Scout Troops Are Planning Visits To Council Camp

Chilly weather in the Bay Area usually means snow in the high country, and with it the winter camp season for Boy Scouts of Mt. Diablo Council will hit with a bang.

Camp Bray, near Pinecrest, will have 250 boys on the ski slopes and toboggan runs every weekend from the first week of January through the third week of March, according to Judge Dave Calfee, camping committee chairman.

Ten Troops have made reservations for January 7-8, and each weekend after that is completely filled by advance reservations. It is possible, however, for troops to get in some winter activity before the season officially opens; and that opportunity is a good one this year, because the early snows have put the slopes into shape for fun in December.

A total of 2144 boys are insured a good time at the popular camp because of the advance sign-up. Leaders of these boys have attended one of two orientation sessions held last week, one of which was held at Acalanes High School, Lafayette.

Camp regulations, first aid and safety precautions, matters of insurance, and some of the fundamentals of camping under winter conditions were presented by Donovan W. Reeve, director of camping, and Martin Zonlig, ski patrol instructor.

Any troops wishing to camp out may use the facilities, even though they have not made reservations for dormitory space, according to Calfee. Arrangements should be made through the Boy Scout office, however.

YMCA Will Pick Officers at Dinner

Officers will be elected during the annual meeting of the Mt. Diablo Young Men's Christian Association, January 19 at 6:30 p.m. in the College Park High School, Pleasant Hill.

Nominees are as follows: Irvin Deutscher, president; Lee Russell, vice president; John Tague, vice president; Elroy Condeff, secretary; Bue Semrau, treasurer.

Reed Buffington is the outgoing president. Semrau is dinner chairman.

Nominees for three year terms as directors are Bud Stout, Semrau, Walt Lucas, Rev. Ed Smith, Jr., Wilburg Jacoby, Allan Fuller, Harley King, Al Metzler, Bob Moore and Rev. William Stoddard.

Harold Queen has been named to replace John McKinley as director with two years to do.

Guest speaker at the annual dinner will be Daniel Tyler, YMCA world service representative in Monrovia, Liberia.

The officer nominating committee had Elroy Condeff, chairman; James Walsh, Walter Karnes, Warren Deverel, Gerry Wells and Wilbur Jacoby.

English Comedy Set for Alcazar

Mail orders are now being received at the Alcazar Theatre for "At the Drop of a Hat," uproarious Broadway and London hit, which brings stars Michael Flanders and Donald Swann to the Alcazar for a two-weeks engagement, beginning Monday evening, December 26.

"At the Drop of a Hat" played to capacity businesses throughout the past season at the Golden Theatre, New York, following a triumphant three-year run at the Fortune Theatre, London.

Flanders is the lyricist, Swann the composer, and their hilarious two-man revue consists of songs, patter, and comments on their songs — frequently topical, and usually in sardonic or impish vein.

Santa Claus Anonymous Open 'Til Nine Tonight

Santa Claus Anonymous headquarters, at 1380 Main Street, Walnut Creek, is open five days a week to receive donations for needy families. In addition, for the convenience of shoppers, the headquarters will remain open until 9 p.m. today, according to Mrs. John Selley, coordinator for the project.

Mrs. Selley urges everyone in the area to come in and inspect the many fine contributions from Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, churches, schools and many other organizations.

"Donations of canned goods and toys in good condition are still needed, but," said Mrs. Selley,

"money is our most urgent need." She explained that the money is to be used to supply a ham in each food box, and, if possible, a merchandise order for shoes or a sweater to each child. Eighty families received Christmas boxes last year. A larger number of families is anticipated this year.

Persons wishing to donate money to Santa Claus Anonymous may make their checks payable to Christmas Bureau, and mail them to the Volunteer Bureau, 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

Further information regarding Santa Claus may be obtained by calling the Volunteer Bureau, YE 4-0424.

Too Much Water Kills Ygnacio Walnut Trees

Walnut trees are dying in Ygnacio Valley areas because of too much water and the heavy soil texture, according to Ross Sanborn, farm advisor.

"There we have a soil of an adobe clay mixture. If your water table climbs to the root area of the tree, that type of soil does not permit a movement of the water and a root rot results," he said.

Sanborn described the Ygnacio areas as "critical."

Sanborn said the trees will show dying leaves at the top first, where the root is smothered because it is unable to obtain air through the water congestion.

"Then the death will spread down," he added.

However, if it is the crown section of the tree (where the black walnut is grafted to the English walnut) then the "tree will die all at once."

After the recent rainstorm, it is "too early to tell yet what will or what could happen to our orchards in the next year."

Senior Citizens Yule Party Set For Thursday

The Annual Christmas Party for all senior citizens of the Walnut Creek area will be Thursday at noon.

Dinner will be served at $1.75 per person. Advance reservations are necessary.

Committees in charge of arrangements include: Julia Iacopetti, Isabel Gardiner, Louise Schabas and Jane Rettig, dinner; Adam Kragel, Gladys Hawkins, Florian Stark and Myrtle Pinard, program; Pearl Blaine, Stella Garing, Alice Irish and Jane West, decorations.

Estate Executrix Removal Sought

A petition seeking the removal of the executrix of the estate of Mrs. Estelle Titchler Olson, Alamo widow, has been filed in Contra Costa County Superior Court by Leslie Herbert Olson of Oakland.

Olson, a brother-in-law, also is contesting the will left by Mrs. Olson bequeathing her $151,015 estate to her sister, Mrs. Gladys Titchler Coleman of Beverly Hills. Mrs. Coleman is executrix of the estate.

Mrs. Olson, who lived at 1148 Danville Highway, Alamo, wrote her will last December, two days after the death of her husband, Emil, a retired shoe merchant.

According to Harold Q. Noack of the Oakland law firm of Fernhoff & Wolfe, the contestants attorney, she was "under sedation and shock at the time and influenced by Mrs. Coleman" to leave the estate to her.

Olson would receive one-sixth of the estate if the will was stricken, which includes $47,000 cash on deposit in banks at Walnut Creek and Salinas, where Emil Olson formerly was in business.

Attorney Noack said that Mrs. Olson, also known as Mrs. Estelle Rhea Olson, died last January 17 in San Francisco.

In seeking removal of the executrix, Olson charges neglect of duty, and also alleges she filed her oath of office prior to her appointment by the court.

Hearing on a demurrer filed by the executor's attorney, L. Dean Petty of Beverly Hills, has been set for December 19 before probate Judge Martin E. Rothenberg.

Flight School Flier Evicted From Buchanan

Roland C. Schneider of Martinez, who was operating a flight school at Buchanan Field over objections of Airport Manager Marvin Scott, was evicted from the field by Scott's orders December 1.

Schneider and his partners, pilots Norman Hodgkin and David Decker, will open a Pacheco office just west of the airport, and will continue to fly from the field while holding ground school classes off the airport, the pilot said.

This decision, Schneider predicted, will lead to further difficulty with Scott, who won unqualified support from the County Supervisors November 29 in his decision to evict Schneider.

Scott told the board Schneider was violating a county ordinance by giving flying lessons at the field without owning an airplane or having a fixed base, hangar or office.

Schneider admitted his plans run counter to Scott's warning that he was prohibited from using the airport for instruction flights until he qualified as a "fixed base operator."

Scott, relying on the county ordinance, refused to rent office space but offered him the lease of an acre of land providing the pilot would invest about $50,000 in a hangar and acquire an airplane.

Schneider said that he had acquired a 1958 Champion two-seater training plane and will begin operations as soon as it is delivered.

Schneider said that Scott's warning will be ignored in the belief that Federal Aviation Agency regulations will keep Scott from denying them the use of the field as long as lessons are not given on airport property.

Vote Unlikely Before 1962

The earliest a regional rapid transit system bond issue will go on the ballot will be November of next year. Bay Area voters may not have a chance to decide if they want to authorize it before June, 1962.

John M. Pierce, general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said it will be impossible to propose a bond issue before next November. "It may well be," he said, "that the bond vote will not be until the June primary election of 1962."

Alameda County became the first within the five-county district to approve tentative engineering plans for the proposed $926 million system with the December 1 action.

Transit officials still must draft a final plan, including the means for financing construction.

Pheasant Coops Report Decrease In Season's Use

A five per cent decline in the take of pheasants by California hunters on 19 state-managed cooperative hunting areas and waterfowl hunting areas on which checks were made was reported today by the State Department of Fish and Game.

The agency said 22,949 birds were bagged, compared with 24,222 last year on the same areas.

HUNTER pressure also was off—52,815 hunters used these areas this year, compared with 56,283 in 1959 on the same areas, a drop of six per cent.

Hunter success on these areas was just about the same as last year when hunters average .43 birds per man. The 1960 average was .44.

Heavy rains on opening weekend this year probably held down the number of hunters on these areas, the department of fish and game commented.

THE RAINS also made hunting difficult in some areas by causing pheasants to seek heavier cover and thus become more difficult to flush.

The picture was slightly better on waterfowl management areas managed by the department, which had a four per cent in-

Victims of Tuberculosis Total 1150

About 1150 people in the county now have tuberculosis or have recently recovered, according to the Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mrs. Edythe Tucker, association executive director, said the proportion of persons known to have tuberculosis in the county remains at a constant level year after year despite the modern methods of treatment.

She added that she recently talked in San Francisco with Steven Dohanos, national honorary Christmas Seal chairman, who is a world-famous artist, and victim twice of tuberculosis.

12 years in Walnut Creek

FURS by Harrel

E. G. HAESLOOP
1987 N. Main St. Walnut Creek .YE 5-5228

In a progress report to the County Board of Education recently a team of librarians sees a future in which large districts will be called upon to solve a set of problems distinctly different from those with which the typical Contra Costa school district of the 1950s contended.

The school district then scouted for a place to house the books supplied by the County Schools Library "in classrooms, closets, or principals' offices" and relied on the classroom teacher or assistant principal to act as librarian.

The school district of the future will not only be called upon to operate its own library system—as many do now—but also to serve an increasing number of individual school libraries and to staff both system and individual libraries with trained librarians.

Authors of the report are: Mrs. Thelma Dahlin, coordinator of school library services, Mt. Diablo Unified School District; Mrs. Fern Davis, director of school library services, Pittsburg Unified School District, and Walter Harris, library consultant, Contra Costa County Schools Library.

The team found that of 12 districts participating in a program to improve library service, eight now have a centralized library system. There are 12 credentialed librarians at the elementary level compared to none in 1952 and 10 at the secondary level compared to three. The number of other library personnel has risen from seven to 91.

Despite gains, the report sees weakness in the fact that there are only 23 librarians in the 105 schools in the district. Nor is the problem of staffing elementary libraries in six districts solved by the volunteer services of 223 parents.

Of the 12 participating districts only three continue to contract to receive services from the County Schools Library. The transition from county to district library service has been governed by standards adopted by a library committee and has been assisted by Harris.

The three participating districts remaining in the County Schools Library system are Alamo and Sheldon, with three schools each, and Rodeo, with two schools. Danville Union District, with four schools, is organizing its own central library this year.

The eight districts with central library organization are: Mt. Diablo Unified, 40 schools; Antioch Unified, Lafayette, Pittsburg Unified and San Pablo, 9 schools each; Walnut Creek, 8 schools; Orinda Union, 7 schools, and Oakley Union, 2 schools.

Your Garden

Plants for Christmas Have Many Advantages

There are many good reasons for saying "Merry Christmas" with a plant. And not the least of these is that nothing makes the gardener happier. Give him a choice rhododendron or a coveted camellia and you give him a dream come true.

The other big reason, of course, is that your gift increases in size and beauty as the years go by. There's satisfaction to be derived on the part of the giver, too, when he sees his gift thriving through the years.

THE RECIPIENT doesn't have to garden, however, to enjoy a plant in bloom. Beauty has universal appeal and a colorful azalea is appreciated by gardener and non-gardener alike.

Likewise, a blooming chrysanthemum, a pot of heather, or what have you. Give these to a non-gardener, and there's always the outside chance he'll give them back to you when the bloom is gone (how scheming can we get).

Perhaps the most elegant of all blooming plants for Christmas giving is the orchid. When you give a gardener his first orchid in bloom, chances are that you'll launch him on a new hobby. For to grow an orchid and enjoy its blooms is to want to grow more of them.

THE CATTLEYA orchids are most commonly seen as house plants and fortunately plants of this breed are to be found in California Association of Nurserymen nurseries during the Christmas season. Append a note to the usual season's greetings recommending that the recipient put his new-found beauty in a sunny south window and water it every few days.

African violets will afford the indoor gardener much enjoyment during weeks to come. Their variety is infinite and several plants are better than one. Cyclamen, too, are cherished for their exotic blooms.

There are many, many more to choose from, and whatever your choice, you can rest assured it will be appreciated.

More Ranunculus Will Keep Bloom For Longer Time

Here are items for the gardener to check this week:

Another planting of ranunculus will keep the succession of bloom going longer next spring. Keep planting them through winter.

Deciduous fruit trees can be pruned now. Check with your nurseryman to find out which ones to prune and how much to prune them.

The perennial vegetables—artichoke, asparagus and rhubarb—can be planted this month and next. All three have some ornamental value.

Cut dahlia stalks back when the tops dry. Lift and store the clumps of tubers in a dry place. You can divide them in spring.

Spring bulbs can still be planted if you can find them. Some nurseries are sold out.

One-Way Street Now Two-Way

Civic Drive's "one-way" from Main to Locust Streets is now "two-way."

Walnut Creek councilmen acted last week on a recommendation by Public Works Director Armand Werle that the traffic both ways be restored due to the lighter traffic resulting from the opening of the bypass.

Annuals Can Be Pleasant Cover On Spring Bulbs

If you've never overplanted spring bulbs with a cover of low-growing annuals, you've missed one of spring's most delightful sights. The cover blooms with the bulbs in a combination that is something really special. When the bulbs are gone, the cover keeps blooming to hide the bareness that normally results.

This is a trick of the professional gardener which any of us can duplicate. You simply dig a bed of bulbs into the ground and plant a flat full of annuals over them. If you've already planted your bulbs, plant the cover now. The difference in planting time won't make any difference.

In covering his bulbs with color, the gardener will do well to watch the contrasts carefully. White daffodils such as Beersheba, for instance, are far more attractive when grown up through a cover of yellow or blue violas than they would be with white violas. The giant yellow King Alfred daffodil is less effective when grown with yellow violas than it is with either blue or white. And so on.

Annual alyssum, that former "weed" which has been hybridized with such appealing results over the years, is also an ideal cover to bulbs of all types. Over daffodils, tulips or Dutch iris, it forms a dense carpet of color

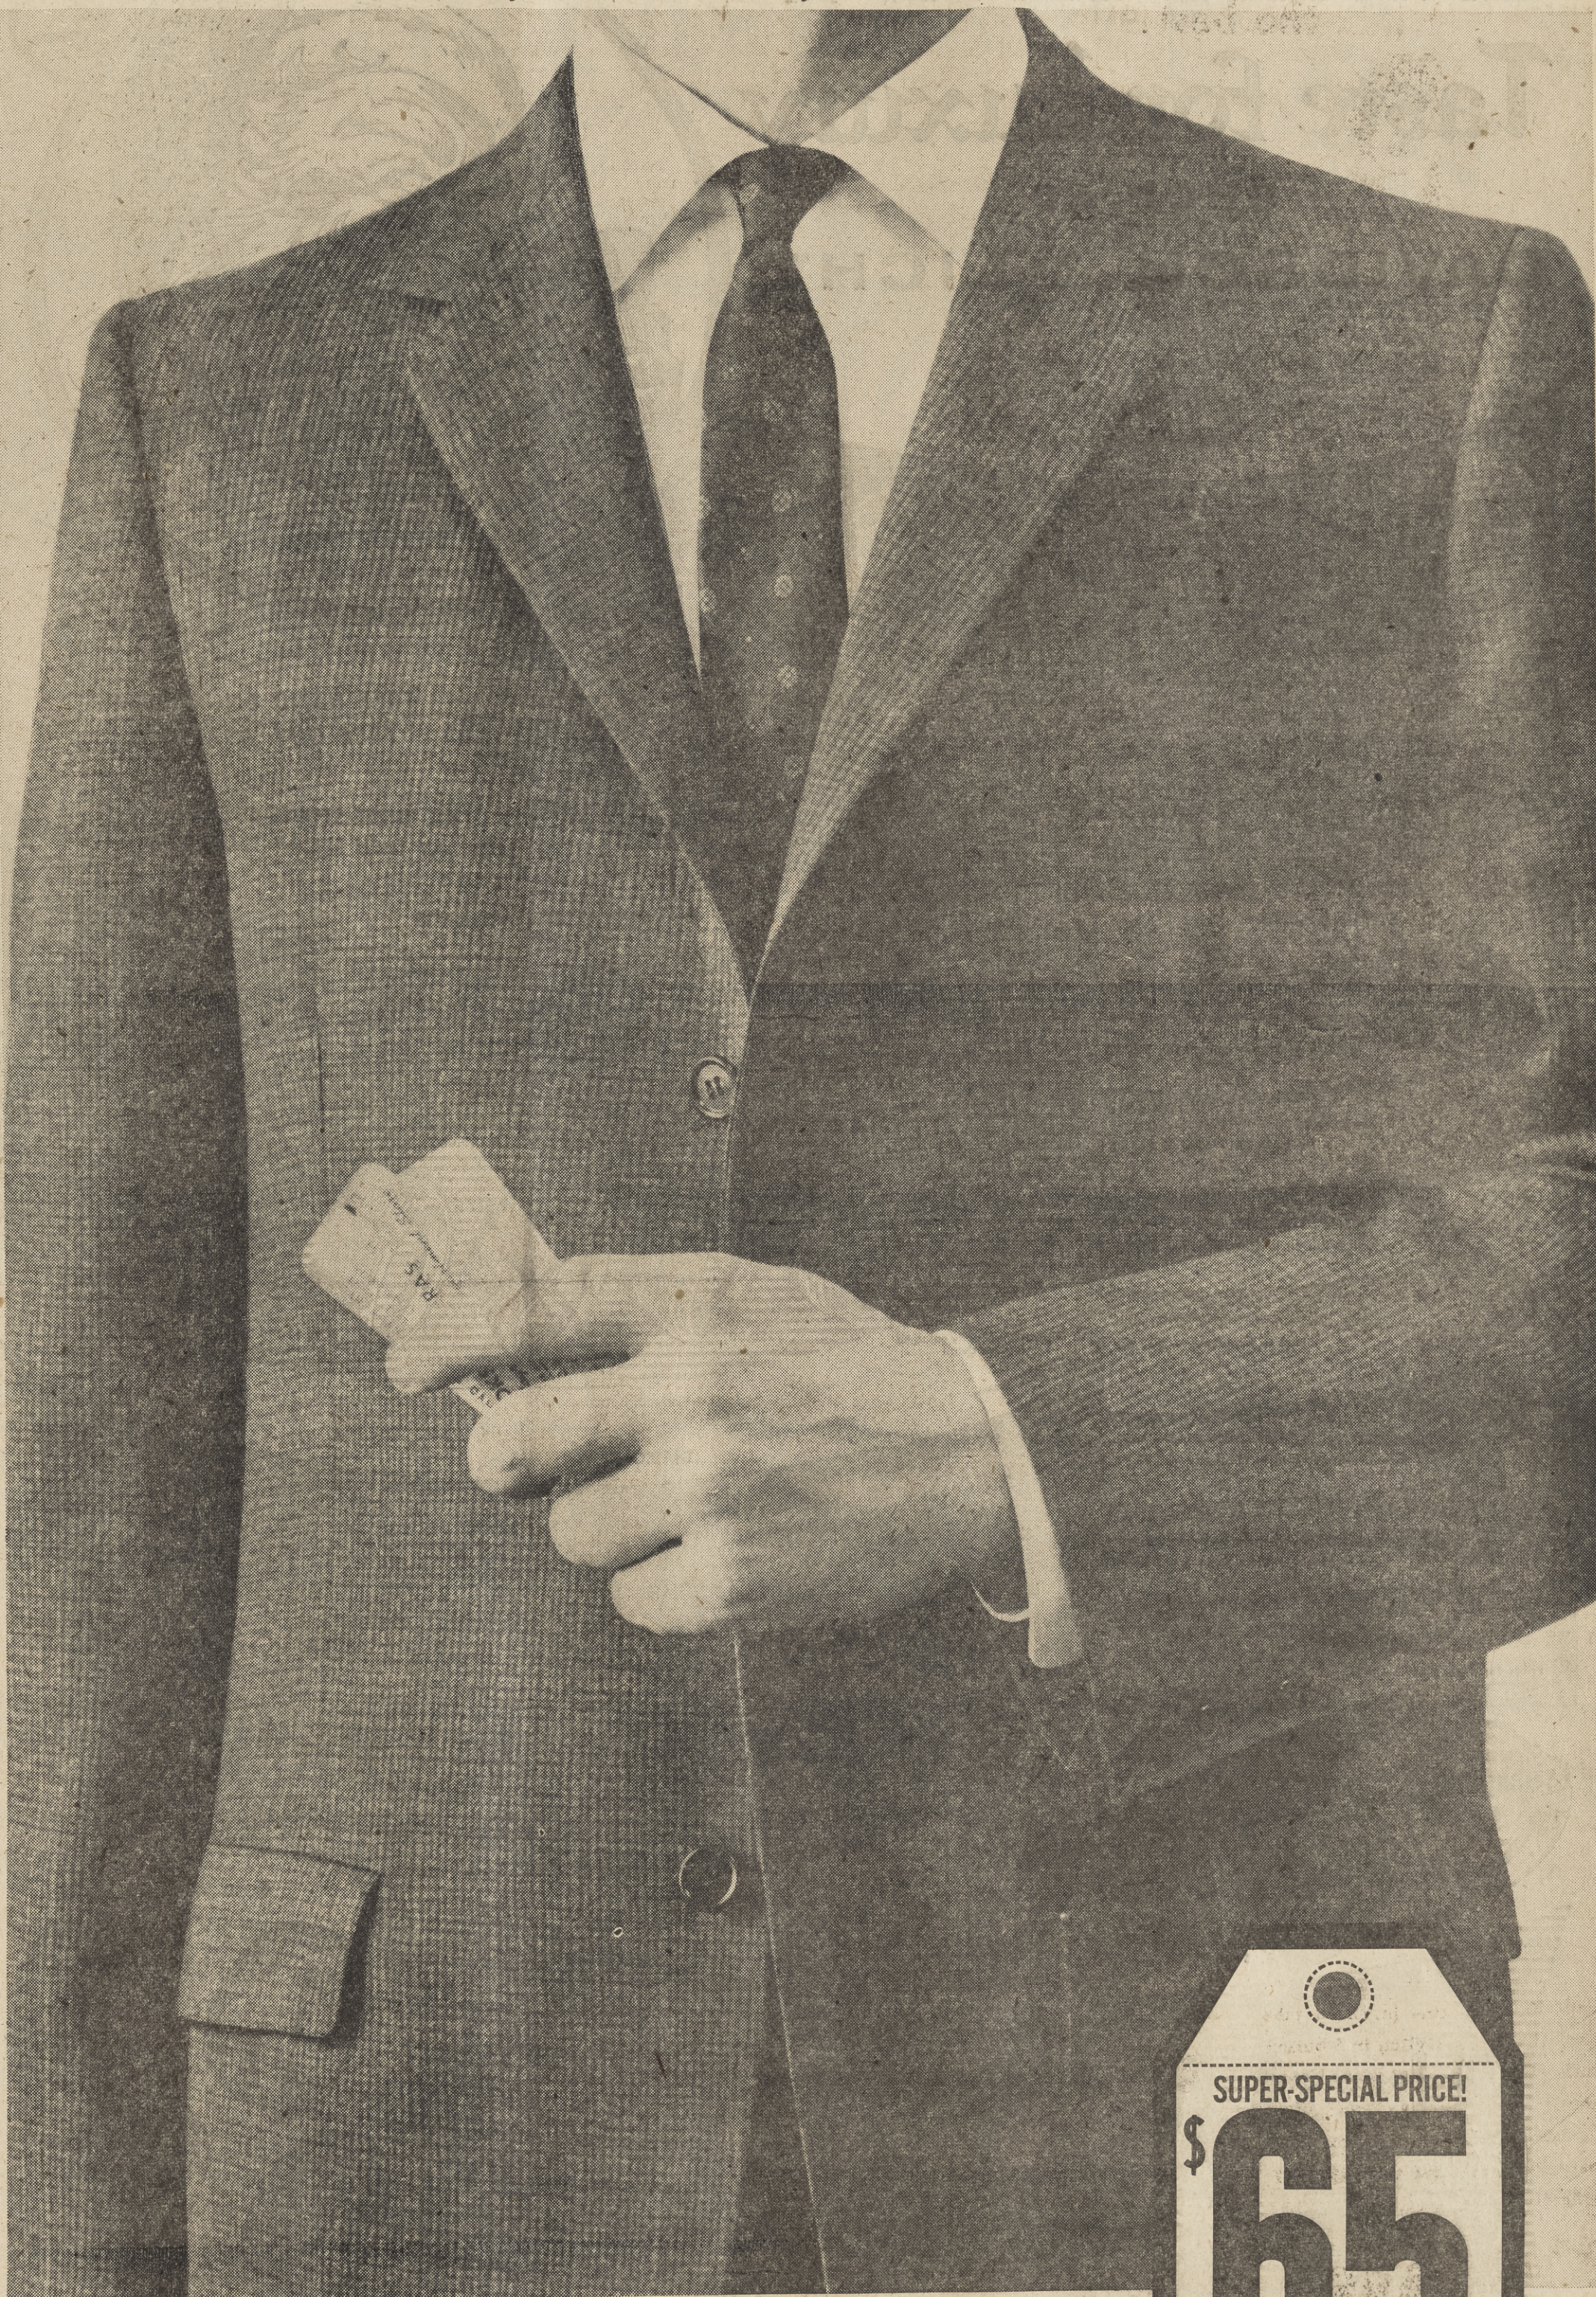

Here Are Some Ideas for Color During Winter

With winter color so easy to come by in California, why have so many gardeners so little of it? Mostly, we'd guess, it's because they don't start thinking of color until it isn't there. This is definitely the reason for lack of annual color this time of year. To have it through the cool months, we must plant it early—toward the end of summer or shortly after Labor Day. Those who remember this can cut it now. There's only one remedy for a lack of color at this time, Christmas, lovely bouquets of stock and pansies in midwinter. Since we're not here to discuss what might have been, however, let's look at what we can do about

Your first choice—and usually they are the first to meet your eye in a nursery—are the azaleas. We know of no other plants that start their bloom so early and keep it so late.

NYLON PROTECTS AGAINST 4 BLOWOUT CAUSES

caused by hitting a rock, hole or bump. Nylon's shock-absorbing toughness guards against impact damages, gives extra safety.

MOISTURE seeping through crack or cuts weakens ordinary cord. Nylon ends blowouts due to moisture damage. Water can't rot nylon cord.

FLEX STRAIN that occurs every time a tire turns can sap strength. Nylon's resilience guards against damaging flex fatigue. Safer.

HEAT can permanently weaken tire cord, lead to blowouts. Nylon has greater heat resistance and also runs cooler. Used for racing tires.

If You Drink, and Need Help, Then Call...

Just Pick Up Phone; Your Identity Is Safe

If your social drinking is becoming less and less social, and if you want to talk to somebody about it without revealing your identity, the Alcoholism Information Center may have the answer.

People in the central county need only dial YELLOW-stone 5-0472, to get the sympathetic ear of Mrs. Edythe Tucker or one of her associates.

She will be ready to discuss at least eight possible channels through which the problem drinker may find his or her own solution.

IF YOU WISH, you can give your name. You will not be pressed to do so, however.

"They often say that it just helped to talk about it. They often feel they can't talk about it to friends or relatives," said Mrs. Tucker.

The information center was set up by the new Contra Costa Council on Alcoholism.

But don't be surprised if the person on the line answers by saying, "Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association."

THAT'S because the Alcoholism Information Center is housed with the Association at 105 Astrid Drive, Pleasant Hill.

There is a strong correlation between alcoholism and tuberculosis, making the alliance logical. About 17 per cent of the county's TB patients are also alcoholics, and this figure is higher than most other counties.

Alcoholism alone is a big problem in the county, according to Mrs. Tucker.

LAST YEAR, 19 persons were killed and 670 injured in local auto accidents involving drinking drivers.

About half of the jail bookings in the county are related directly or indirectly to the use of alcohol, she said.

Forty-three per cent of the county district attorney's time is spent on legal cases where alcohol is a contributing factor—including divorce, non-support, drunk driving and criminal cases. Forty per cent of the 1400 patients admitted for psychiatric treatment at the county hospital last year were considered alcoholics.

TWENTY-THREE people died in the county last year from alcoholic cirrhosis of the liver, and this ailment was a major factor in six other deaths.

The Council on Alcoholism itself is in the midst of getting organized.

It has many professional men and women, doctors, social workers, probation people, representatives of the sheriff's department, the health department, and others.

Head man is Otto H. Carstens of Walnut Creek, chairman. HIS OFFICERS are Rev. Neale Jensen of Richmond and John Flannery of Concord, vice chairman; Dr. Glen W. Kest of Walnut Creek, secretary; Arnold Nelson of Walnut Creek, treasurer.

Carstens outlined goals of the new organization.

"The council will study our county's needs and resources for the prevention of alcoholism. It will promote public and professional understanding of alcoholism and encourage improved methods and facilities for treatment and rehabilitation of problem drinkers."

"THE COUNCIL will not take a stand on the wet and dry controversy, nor are its activities designed to either promote or prevent the sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages," he added.

The Information Center people have complete lists of organizations and individuals who are available to assist persons with alcohol problems. The course actually taken by the caller depends on his or her specific problem.

However, he will be first asked about the possibility of consulting the family doctor or clergyman.

Other possibilities are Alcoholics Anonymous groups, attorneys, doctors who take alcoholic patients, psychiatrists, county facilities for treating acute illness, including the county hospital, area health department offices and public health nurses.

County Creates Two Positions

Contra Costa County personnel department announced competition for two new jobs today. These positions are rehabilitation re-employment officer ($613-$745) and rehabilitation reemployment counselor ($505-$613).

The new positions have been created along with a program for the reemployment of public assistance recipients. They are located in the County Social Service department.

TROUBLE is attractively bottled in bond for many local residents. This girl at left needed help, talked about it over the phone, and decided to drop in at the Alcoholism Information Center in Pleasant Hill. She is shown with Mrs. Edythe Tucker and Otto Carstens, chairman of the new Council on Alcoholism.

Taxpayers Cool to New Money-Spending Plans

Proposals for increasing county health and medical services to seasonal agricultural workers and to apply a county-wide property tax for school purposes alone have been coolly received by the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association.

newsletter, said the board of directors recently "heard with alarm" about the increased health and medical program suggested by the State Director of Public Health.

The plan would involve a "vast increase" of local health services and social welfare for "migrants."

THE ASSOCIATION as yet has not taken an official stand in the matter, the newsletter said.

The county-wide property tax for school purposes has been supported by teacher and education organizations, the newsletter continued.

It added, "... if applied to Contra Costa County, it would mean the loss to the county of from $1 million to $5 million in state aid."

"This means that in various school districts, Contra Costa's tax burden will increase in an amount equal to the loss in state

High Schools Now Larger In Contra Costa

In response to accelerated enrollment and urbanization, school plants in Contra Costa County are increasingly larger and in many cases house bigger student populations than the entire districts a decade or two ago.

A case in point, according to County Superintendent Floyd Marchus, is Richmond High School, whose 2687 student population is the largest on a single campus within Contra Costa County and exceeds the Richmond Union High School District's 1940 enrollment by more than 1000.

All three other high schools also have more students than the 1605 of two decades ago.

All but one of the Acalanes Union High School District's four high schools house more than the 1050 enrolled in the district in 1950, and the fourth, the new Del Valle, has 475 students, as compared with the district's 401 in 1940.

Similarly, three of Mt. Diablo Unified District's five high schools approximate or surpass in enrollment the total high school population of 1950, which was 1485. The district's combined elementary and high school enrollment was then 8151 as compared with the current figure, 29,369.

Over 400,000 Population In Contra Costa

The 1960 Census of Population Advance Report gives the final population count for Contra Costa County as 409,030.

The total urban population was reported to be 331,863, or 81.1 per cent.

Urban population is divided into urbanized areas with a population count of 186,510, and other urbanized territory with a count of 145,353.

According to the report the total rural population, 77,167, is considerably less than the urban total.

Rural population is divided into places of one thousand to twenty-five hundred with a population count of 11,314, and other rural territory with a count of 65,853.

The official population count of the State of California as of April 1, 1960, was 15,717,204. This is a gain of 5,130,981, or 48.5 per cent, over the 10,586,223 inhabitants of the State in 1950, according to the report.

Mothers' March Chairman Picked

The appointment of Mrs. George (Alta) Velikonja of Rodeo and Mrs. B. C. (Ruth) Wrench of San Pablo as Mothers' March co-chairmen for Contra Costa County was announced.

The 1961 New March of Dimes campaign office is under the direction of Joseph DeRosa, Concord postmaster.

Mrs. Velikonja, mother of two and Rodeo Mothers' March chairman for 10 years, is a past president of Rodeo PTA, a former officer of the John Swett High School PTA, an active member of the Well-Baby Clinic and Girl Scouts and a charter member of the Rodeo Garden Club.

A veteran campaigner, San Pablo vice-mayor, Mrs. Wrench, mother of two, is a former Mothers' March chairman for San Pablo, resident chairman for the United Crusade and has worked on the Heart, Mental Health and Cancer drives and the Well-Baby and Tuberculosis Clinics.

Art Ass'n Hosts New Board Members

The retiring Diablo Art Association board hosted the newly elected board, headed by Jim Little of Walnut Creek, at a potluck supper December 6.

In a discussion that followed exhibit chairman Mona Williams reported that 1290 paintings had been shown in one-man shows. Seven hundred paintings and creative craftwork have been exhibited in shows. Five shows have been given, including one for craftsmen.

Owen Nelson, membership, reported that 55 new members brought membership to 244. First prize paintings, winners of the Diablo Art Association Painting-of-the-month competition, are now on display at the Walnut Bowl, Walnut Creek. They will be on exhibit throughout this month.

Two-time winner, Charles McGill, Concord, has two abstract oil paintings on exhibit. Nadine West, Pleasant Hill, is showing a still-life watercolor in the exhibit.

TV Teaching Is Schools Program

Teaching with closed circuit television will be demonstrated to teachers and parents at the San Ramon Valley Union High School in Danville January 18.

The demonstration is planned in two sessions, one in the afternoon for teachers and school administrators of Contra Costa County and neighboring areas, and the second for school board members, administrators and the public. The latter presentation is in connection with PTA Night.

"Educational Television — A New Dimension in Learning" is the theme of the demonstration, which is being presented jointly by the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus and San Ramon Valley Union High School.

Visit Mt. Diablo Therapy Center

Approximately 30 executives of rehabilitation centers across the nation visited the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center this week on a tour arranged as part of the Conference of Rehabilitation Centers and Facilities, Inc., held at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley.

Mrs. Juanita Benoy, administrator of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, acted as chairman of the resolutions committee at the conference and also served as a member of the Workshop planning committee.

A reception for the visitors was arranged by Mrs. Richard Lieber, chairman of the hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Kennedy, chairman of the Unit Coordinating Council.

Utility District Offers Firewood

Free firewood is available to the public near the Briones Dam site in Contra Costa County, it was announced recently by William T. Hartman, land maintenance superintendent for the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Chanukkah Services Set

A special service by the B'nai Ramah youth group of the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center will be conducted tonight at 8:30 at the center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

Members of the youth group will present a creative service entitled "God in the Newspapers." The sermonette will be delivered by David Kasdan. Following the services, members of the 10th grade class will present a dramatic reading entitled "Americans All." A social with refreshments will follow.

Sunday at 7 p.m. a unique celebration will be held at the center on the occasion of Chanukkah, the holiday which commemorates the re-dedication of the temple in Jerusalem following the Maccabean victory over the Seleucidae. The rite of the dedication of a new Torah scroll will be observed.

Members of the League for Jewish Women, the CCJCC Men's Club and the general membership, in addition to the B'nai Ramah youth group, will join with Rabbi David Robins, Cantor Henri Goldberg and the center choir in the celebration of this unusual event in the congregation. Ellen Kropf will be at the organ and Harriet Danieko will be soprano soloist.

In keeping with the festivities after the conclusion of the service, there will be the traditional "Latke," or pancake party, and social hour.

Cancer Fund Shortage Is Described

Money raised in Contra Costa County for cancer control is helping to meet a serious inadequacy in funds available for essential cancer research, said Dr. Charles J. Hart of Walnut Creek, president of the American Cancer Society's Contra Costa County branch.

He said that at the last grant session of the American Cancer Society, it was necessary to defer action on $843,000 in new research applications placed in the "must support" category by the National Research Advisory Council, because funds were not available.

Check Heaters, Avoid Danger, Says Health Man

"Many deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning or brushing the lint and dust from around heaters, water heaters, controls, openings of burners and furnace pits and filters," he said. "Just this past winter a Contra Costa needlessly died and others were hospitalized from a self-installed gas heater. Installation and adjustment of heating equipment is not a job to be tackled by 'do-it-yourself' glad to serve you."
